Being Backed By Legion Organization

With an anticipated attendance exceeded, the National Commander's Banquet of the Twenty-Sixth Congressional District held last night at the Cathedral, with Ralph T. O'Neil, present national commander, as the principal guest of honor, was an unusually successful affair and again reflected great credit to the Legionnaires, not only of this city and the congressional district, but to the entire Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio district.

Nearly 1700 Present
Nearly seventeen hundred Legionnaires, their wives, sweethearts and friends gathered for the occasion, who manifested great enthusiasm in all the features of the program. The only thing that in the least interfered with the enthusiastic reception accorded the national commander, was the fact that he could not enjoy the festivities to the fullest extent due to condition of health. His appearance at the banquet table and his subsequent address in the auditorium of the Cathedral helped the vast throng to proceed with an

PA NEW OBSERVES

You might imagine the Boy Scout movement as strictly an American affair, but latest world-wide registration figures reveal it's quite different. The U. S. has 816,958 scouts; Great Britain and her dominions and colonies, 654,130; Japan, 49,611, and China, 40,250. All in all, there are 1,902,917 boys who wear scout badges.

Remember, income tax payers, you have until Monday to file your returns for the current filing season. The city office of the U. S. Internal Revenue department will be opened Saturday and Monday until 9 p. m. for the last minute taxpayers, who may need assistance from the local collectors of internal revenue.

And tomorrow is Friday—13th!

The religious editor of The News was presented with an unique gift Wednesday in the nature of a pair of knitted socks which were made in Persia. The socks are usually worn with just a cloth covering in place of shoes as we know them.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather bureau statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning follow:

With indications pointing to another Hickman case, all available police of San Diego and Los Angeles have been concentrating in a man hunt for the slayer of Virginia Brooks, 10-year-old school girl whose decapitated body was found in a burlap bag on Camp Kearny Mesa, Cal.

National Commander Arises From Sick Bed To Make Address At Banquet

SAYS LEGION NOT
UNJUST IN DEMANDS

Explains Attitude Of Legion
On Recent Bonus Legislation By Congress

National Commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, was forced to greatly curtail the address he had planned to make at the American Legion banquet in the Cathedral last evening because of illness, but briefly outlined legislation passed by Congress during the past session, and reaffirmed the stand of the American Legion on a policy which is designed to place care of the disabled in front of all other problems and efforts.

He expressed the gratitude of the American Legion for what had been done by Congress for the veterans in the recent short session, and told of the determination of the American Legion to continue its efforts in the best interests of their sick and disabled comrades.

Commander O'Neil arose from a sick bed to attend the banquet, having spent the entire day in his room in the Cathedral, after having been stricken on the train enroute here, and immediately after making his address, returned to the hotel for further rest. His condition is not serious, and he is expected to be able to continue his journey today.

He expressed his regrets at being unable to outline the program of the American Legion which had been adopted for the present year because of his condition.

Residents Protest Plans For Closing Lawrence School

Protesting vigorously last month's action of the New Castle board of education, calling for the complete abandonment of the Lawrence elementary school, North Liberty street, at the close of the present term, a representative delegation of Seventh ward residents appeared to air their complaint before the authorities at the meeting last night.

The party of a dozen or more, coming from the second precinct section of the ward, carried a petition asking the directors to reconsider their move. It was signed by nearly 180 persons.

Explains Protest
John Bevan, acting as chief spokesman for the party, presented their complaint, explained why they are asking for a reversal of the action and then presented the petition. It read:

Stage All Set For Hospital Benefit Show

Annual Production Will Be Given In Cathedral This Evening

SHOW BIZARRE IS SOMETHING UNUSUAL

With all preparations completed for the presentation of the third annual Jameson hospital minstrel and musical comedy show, a record attendance is looked for on the opening night's production this evening.

Many tickets have been sold for the event and a talented cast is ready to take the stage in what is expected to prove the biggest show of its kind ever held.

There have been many novel features introduced to make the show a bigger spectacle than ever, and the musical comedy part, which will follow the minstrel show will provide some unique presentations never before seen in this city.

The minstrel will provide many new and laughable gags, and with Joe Love, Harry Elwell, DeLace Cole and Lew Pearsall as end men, and Charley Nolan as intercomedian, aided by a splendid minstrel cast, this part of the show will prove highly entertaining.

The second part of the show includes a swift-moving plot which has been designed so as to eliminate encores in order that the show may not exceed the time limit set, and the audience is asked to bear this in mind.

Among those who will be found in the leading roles in the second part of the show are Myrabeth May, Sam McCarley, Lewis and Henry Jenkins and a score of others, all of whom have had previous experience in local home talent productions.

Then there will be some spectacles which are new and novel which will be woven into the plot, while plenty of pretty choruses, directed by the Van Ipe school, will add to the production.

It will be a succession of swift, snappy numbers which will reel through the second part of the show, many of them alone being worth the price of admission.

Tickets are still on sale for tonight's production and the show tomorrow evening at Metzler's and the Snyder piano store, and the price of admission having been placed within the reach of all.

The Rev. C. J. Williamson of the Highland U. P. church will speak Friday evening.

You're the JUDGE

Jim Botkins had been police chief of the village of Higbestown as long as anyone could remember. But one day Chief Botkins seemed to have recognized his big opportunity. Immediately outside of the environs of the town was the large estate of the wealthy Mr. J. Stinson Smith. An agent from Mr. Smith invited Chief Botkins to assume the job of organizing and directing a guard for the estate. Chief Botkins called to the attention of the agent the fact that his present job was virtually a life job with a pension after a few more years of service, but the agent talked on and at last the chief said that if he would get a certain salary and a contract for 10 years he would quit the force and enter the employ of Stinson Smith. The agent agreed.

But the agent had to leave the city in a hurry, although he promised to return in a week. He requested Chief Botkins to resign at once, start on his new duties, and said that the contract would be drawn up when he returned. Botkins resigned at once and began his new work. But two days later word came that the agent was killed in an accident. Botkins was nettled about the contract but continued with the estate. Four months later, however, Mr. Smith got an excellent offer for the estate and at once decided to sell. He thereupon dismissed all his employees, including Chief Botkins. Botkins now was out of a job and out of a pension. He brooded for a while and then filed suit against Smith. Mr. Smith's lawyers argued that there was no contract, since it was not in writing, and that therefore the chief was out of luck.

JEALOUS HUSBAND SHOT TO DEATH BY HIS YOUNG BRIDE

rushed in after me and seized me by the throat. Almost strangled. I drew a revolver from under a pillow and shot in self defense."

Shot Through Heart
Investigators of the tragedy said that four shots were fired, one of them passing through the heart of the theater magnate.

The fatal shots shattered a romance that caught world interest when it first blossomed in the fading summer of 1923. It started when Charlotte Nash, of the admirable dimples, walked down the Atlantic City boardwalk as St. Louis' candidate for beauty honors in the international pageant, whose guiding genius was Nixon-Nirdlinger.

She won first prize in the boardwalk parade, captured fourth place in the international pulchritude contest, and received the coveted cup from the theater man known in Philadelphia and Baltimore simply as Nirdlinger.

A Cinderella dream unfolded from a girl's day dreams into reality, for Nirdlinger enrolled her in the fashionable National Park Seminary at Forest Glen, Maryland with order that she be molded into "the perfect lady."

The Cinderella pattern of the story was never broken, for in February of 1924, Charlotte Nash and her benefactor were married in Hagerstown, Md., and went abroad for their honeymoon.

But the romance soon met with complications, and there were reports of frequent quarrels. Nixon-Nirdlinger had already been married twice, and his final divorce decree from his second wife was still pending. In 1929, after having been married fourteen years to Teresa Burke, mother of his two sons, he divorced her in Philadelphia. She now lives in Arizona or California. Laura McKenna of Atlantic City became his second wife, and she secured her final papers in Paris in 1925.

In 1926 the third Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger also won a divorce from him in Paris, but only after three attempts at reconciliation failed. He continued to pay premiums on a $100,000 policy, which he had taken out on Charlotte Nash's famous dimples. In 1928 the couple was married once more. Two children were born of the second marriage, a son, Fred, now 3, and Charlotte, 2.

They were playing in the villa nursery when the shots cracked in rapid succession.

Spectacular Career
Philadelphia, Mar. 12.—Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, was one of the most spectacular characters in Philadelphia theatrical circles. His life was a series of dramas comparable with those shown in his various playhouses.

He was married twice prior to his marriage, divorce and remarriage with the dimpled Charlotte Nash, "Miss St. Louis," of the 1923 Atlantic City beauty pageant. This last romance was the most exciting of the various incidents in his life. Their temperaments clashed repeatedly but after the re-marriage, friends of the couple here reported they were very happy and very much in love.

The attractive young wife attracted much attention through her ice skating and Nixon-Nirdlinger also was constantly in the news, winning the famous Philadelphia trophy for curling less than two months ago.

Born In Philadelphia
Nixon-Nirdlinger was born in Philadelphia and attended the Friends Central School here where he was known as Fred Nixon. His father was Samuel F. Nixon, of the theatrical firm of Nixon & Zimmerman, while his grandfather was Frederick Nirdlinger, one of the founders of Fort Wayne, Ind., who objected strenuously to his name "being used by any fly-by-night showman," when Samuel announced he was entering the theatrical business. To please his father, the son, became known as Samuel Nixon, but when the grandson decided to follow in his father's footsteps he became known as Frederick G. Nixon-Nirdlinger.

The youth rose so rapidly that while still in his 20's he became manager of the Nixon & Zimmerman interests here. Later he branched out with a chain of theaters of his own buying the Metropolitan Opera House here in 1920. At the time of his death he was one of the largest stockholders in the legitimate theaters of the country. He was part owner of the Garrick and Broad street theaters here, of the Apollo theater in Atlantic City and Ford's Theater in Baltimore. His son, Samuel F. Nirdlinger, of Merion, Pa., is the managing director of the Nirdlinger interests in Philadelphia.

Claims Self Defense

NICE, France, Mar. 12.—Confident of her ability to prove justification and self-defense as the motive for the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, wife of a prominent Philadelphia and New York theater magnate, remained philosophical and calm in imprisonment today while French police investigated the shooting.

Nixon-Nirdlinger was shot to death in his villa on the fashionable promenade Des Anglais last night by his third wife, the former Charlotte Nash, of St. Louis, who portrayed "Miss St. Louis" in the Atlantic City beauty contest of 1923.

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger declared her husband attacked and choked her following a bitter quarrel which grew out of his unjustified jealousy. She exhibited red finger marks on her throat in substantiation of her claim.

No Formal Charge
No formal charge had been lodged against Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger yet today. She was held at the Third Arrondissement police station where she was taken immediately after the shooting. She will be taken to the local prison tonight, and an examining magistrate will be named on Monday or Tuesday to hear the case. It was believed here that Judge Vaehier probably would be the examining magistrate.

Formal charges will be made after the magistrate's findings are rendered.

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger appeared quite calm and untroubled as she awaited further developments of her case.

"A case like this is hardest on the children," the precinct police captain said to International News Service. "There are those two small children now who have no one to watch over them. I have asked the American consul here to take charge of them."

The American consul here is Robertson Honey.

The Nixon-Nirdlingers had two children, Fred, now 3, and Charlotte, 2.

THE SUN'S APPARENT ANNUAL MOTION

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter
The apparent annual motion of the sun is variable as is readily seen by the fact that it takes the sun 186 days to pass from the Vernal Equinox to the Autumnal, and but 179 days to return. Of course the apparent lack of uniformity is entirely due to the modifying of the earth's orbital velocity around the sun. While the earth is passing from Vernal to Autumnal Equinox it is in that part of its orbit that is farthest from the sun. This has the effect of slowing down the planet in its forward movement. But as the earth approaches the sun, the forward orbital motion of the earth is accelerated.

O'NEIL RE-AFFIRMS STAND OF LEGION ON CARE FOR DISABLED

belief in The American Legion and the ideals upon which it is founded. It is the greatest organization of service men that the world has ever known.

"I do want to speak briefly of the recent bonus legislation enacted by Congress and of our hospitalization program. We want a bed for every veteran, not a veteran for every bed. Congress has studied our needs during the past short session and have given us what they thought was best. They passed legislation making nearly $21,000,000 available for hospital construction.

"The question of obtaining immediate cash on certificates by those desiring it, became a burning issue in Congress this winter. Factory workers without jobs, farmers without crops, school children without food, hungry humanity inspired the demand. The demand came from every state in the union, from non-veteran bankers and business men, factory owners and factory workers, as well as from the veterans themselves.

"I want to state right here, however, that this so-called Bonus, is not a bonus in any sense of the word. Congress merely is giving the veterans the right to borrow their own money, and asking them to pay 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded annually, when they can go out and borrow the same money at 2 per cent. They are loaning the veterans money which has been already allocated to the Veterans Bureau and which is not being taken from the Treasury of the United States. The veterans' reserve fund, for which the treasury acts as a trustee, now amounts to nearly $800,000,000. The $300,000,000 already borrowed against the certificates, up to the time of the new act, has come from the Government Life Insurance Fund. Therefore, the entire $800,000,000 is available, and can be borrowed under the new law.

With the fund already in reserve, and with the new appropriation of $100,000,000 to come along at the end of the fiscal year in June, all of the veterans loans should be met out of their own fund, with millions to spare.

Issue In Congress
"In 1919, Congress determined that the World War veteran should receive adjusted compensation. An issue was presented to Congress, not through the initiative of the American Legion, but from within Congress, as to how and when the adjusted certificate should be paid.

They asked the opinion of the American Legion on the matter and they presented a four-plan option, cash, farm or home aid, land settlement and vocational training. Congress, after four years, finally rejected all of these Legion proposals, and submitted therefore, the endorsement insurance plan as the sole method of adjusting the soldier's pay.

"The National Executive Committee of the American Legion met in January of this year, and adopted a resolution, which stated in effect that since much legislation, looking towards the conversion into cash of the adjusted service certificates had been initiated in congress; had been broadly discussed, and had become an insistent question; it now became appropriate and necessary for the National Executive Committee to state plainly the opinion of the American Legion on this subject. The committee then endorsed unanimously, the principle of cash retirement of these certificates.

The resolution declared, however, that the first and major objective of the Legion was largely legislation for the further relief of the disabled man and his dependents. This governing body then endorsed the cash payment, although it did not choose between any bills pending before Congress. It was then, and is now the opinion of the Legion, that the passage of legislation will be an effort immensurably, not only the veterans themselves, but the citizenship of the entire country.

Members of the American Legion are just as patriotic today and just as willing to make sacrifices for their country, as they were twelve years ago. Our organization resents the fact that the veterans have been accused of making unjust demands on our government. We have asked nothing of this Congress and will ask nothing in the future, that would be unfair or unjust, or that would be injurious to the welfare of our country."

In conclusion he again expressed his regrets that his physical condition was not better, and stated that the American Legion is most grateful for the passage of nearly $21,000,000 worth of hospital construction to carry out the policy of the American Legion providing for adequate hospitalization.

Commander O'Neil sat at the table allotted to the special guests during the dinner, but was not on the platform until the time for his address and left immediately to return to his hotel for further rest.

HOOVER LEADERS ARE NOT WORRIED BY PROGRESSIVES

for Mr. Hoover next year. Irrespective of what the Republican platform contains.

Legislative Threat
It isn't the political threat of the progressive conference, then, that concerns the regular Republican leadership. It is the legislative threat. The legislative threat is real and it is serious from the administration standpoint.

The progressives hold the balance of power in both houses of the 72nd Congress, which runs concurrently with the last half of President Hoover's administration. It is impossible as of today to state which party will be able to organize either Senate or House. In the Senate the Republicans have a paper majority of a single vote; in the House their paper majority is two votes. Deaths, resignations, contests may conceivably change this delicate balance several times before Congress convenes in December. But whichever party ultimately is able to organize, the real veto power rests with a group of about a dozen progressive senators and a group of about two dozen progressive representatives. They will be able to bargain, trade and deal with the leadership of both parties.

Sixteen Senators

The initial roll call of the progressive conference yesterday reveals 16 senators present. Nine of them were Republicans—Blaine and LaFollette of Wisconsin, Borah of Idaho, Brookhart of Iowa, Norris of Nebraska, Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, Schall of Minnesota, and Cutting of New Mexico; six were Democrats—Bulkeley of Ohio, McGill of Kansas, Thomas of Oklahoma, Walsh of Massachusetts, Wheeler of Montana, and Costigan of Colorado. The 16th was Shipstead (FL) of Minnesota.

There were also 16 members of the House present, seven of them Republicans and nine Democrats. Just these legislators alone constitute the balance of power in both houses. And there are many more in both houses who subscribe to the political philosophy of the progressive.

Norris Bill to Pass

The effect of national legislation may be well imagined. The Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals is virtually certain to pass again, and next time President Hoover will not have a solid Republican House to rely upon to uphold his veto.

The debenture scheme of farm relief is to be revived again, and it is not unlikely that it will be passed and unless there is a marked recovery in farm prices in the next 12 months it is not inconceivable that it might be enacted over a veto.

The foregoing are but two samples of legislation that may be dumped on Mr. Hoover's doorstep by the progressive-controlled 72nd Congress.

Tonight the progressives will adopt a set of legislative principles. Those, and not the political principles, are what is causing worry wrinkles in regular Republican foreheads.

Weak, UNDERWEIGHT bodies invigorated with NEW STRENGTH

Colds, flu and sickness play havoc with the red-blood-cells and the body therefore has less resistance against further disease attacks!

Every Spring take S.S.S. Tonic

Hollow and sunken places fill out!

Every spring countless thousands take S.S.S.—the purely vegetable tonic—to build back their red-blood-cells so that they may have that new strength which makes for a keen appetite, firm flesh, a clear skin and greater resistance against infection and disease. You, too, will want to take S.S.S. for this very reason. Select the larger size as it holds double the quantity and represents a price saving. © S.S.S. Co.

First Time!

For the first time in my theatrical career I am allowing my name to be attached to an advertisement for a motion picture.

The picture is called "RANGO."

I think it is the greatest I have ever seen! It has thrills I have never before experienced in a theatre. It has the richest comedy that ever rocked an audience with laughter!

It has one of the most appealing, moving stories I have ever seen on the screen. It is a picture that will hold children and adults spell-bound.

It's the greatest entertainment in the history of the screen!

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK

NEW CASTLE Business and Professional Women's club is taking part in the program being observed throughout the nation as National Business Women's week. The observance is because of the fact that it marks the twelfth anniversary of the organization of the National Business and Professional Women's clubs, which took place at St. Louis.

The national organization today embodies some 1,250 clubs in 48 states with a total membership of approximately 60,000 members. The organization even extends outside of the United States proper, reaching into Hawaii and Alaska. It is the largest organization of the business and professional women in the world.

The program this week marks the fourth annual observance of such a special anniversary. The members throughout the nation are joined together this week in special activities, which are aimed to better place before the general public the Federation's principles, and to further advance the work of the organization.

Non-partisan, non-sectarian, self-governing and self-supporting, the National Federation, today, through its state federations and local clubs, is continually working toward several goals—economic equality of the business and professional woman, better educational standards for the young business woman, better public relations ideals and an extensive international effort looking for a finer understanding between women of all nations and world peace. These are the more prominent points in the well-rounded program of the Federation.

The New Castle club of the Federation is a progressive, capable led organization. It has established itself firmly as a potent factor in the life of the community, and is an important part of the Pennsylvania State Federation.

It is a city asset in civic and social lines of no minor importance.

MOST BEAUTIFUL CAPITAL

"If our country wishes to compete with others, let it not be in the support of armaments, but in the making of a beautiful capital city," urged Calvin Coolidge in his last presidential message. It proved prophetic for in centuries to come this will be looked upon as the golden era in the embellishment of Washington.

Prosperity and adversity alike have spurred on the work, which should reach a fitting climax when the bicentennial of the birthday of George Washington is celebrated two years hence.

It may be said to have begun with the rescue of the L'Enfant plan by the McMillan commission in 1901. But the great building program did not get under way until years later. It gained new impetus under the Coolidge and Hoover administrations.

It would be impossible to list all the men and women who have had a hand in advancing the beautification of the capital city of the nation. Among living statesmen who have given generously of their time and thought to this work are President Hoover, former President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Something of the spirit of America is being embodied in the marble and brick and steel and in the parks and parkways and garden plots that go to make up this great program, which is designed to give to the United States the most beautiful federal capital in the world.

Millions will visit Washington next year to participate in the celebration in honor of the first president and to see the new monumental buildings, bridges, boulevards, parks and other improvements.

GARDENS FOR RELIEF

Red Cross relief is not merely a matter of feeding and clothing destitute persons. It includes a constructive program which looks to the future. One feature of such a program is the distribution of garden seeds. The Red Cross distributed seeds in its Mississippi flood rehabilitation work and after the hurricanes in Porto Rico and Florida. It is distributing garden seeds now in its drouth relief work in a number of states. In Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama some of the Red Cross seeds are already in the ground.

A packet of seeds contains enough to plant about a quarter of an acre of land includes 18 varieties of seeds—beans, peas, corn, tomatoes, squash and all sorts of leafy and root vegetables. As the gardens mature they will supply food to the families planting them, relieve the drain of grocery orders on the Red Cross, and give families a self-respecting and active part in their own relief.

The seed program may have another important result in the cotton-growing communities. It may encourage many a farmer who has always followed the custom of planting nothing but cotton to go in for generous vegetable gardens. Vegetables require water, of course, and a prolonged, severe drouth will ruin them as it does grain or cotton. But extensive vegetable growing, when the season is right, would provide fresh vegetables for immediate use and also would make possible the storing of dried and canned produce for future consumption.

The 1937 grade crossing season is due to open at almost any time now with a new set of remains.

The average man is so optimistic that he actually laughs at trouble, except, of course, when the trouble is his own.

Our position is that no highway in the state should be less than 11-8 times as wide as one of these turtleback buses.

MENTALS ARE HUMAN

Do you ever pay any attention to the person filling a mental position in your department?

Feel a little superior, don't you, and so you don't often smile on the errand boy or the jack-of-all-trades who cleans the brass and keeps things shining all around your office?

While none cares to be patronized, there is satisfaction and even pleasure in the thought that those higher up are not oblivious to the presence of the ones whose place could be filled most anytime.

There is too much "class" in certain organizations. Those near the top are given the benefit of gracious smiles and those at the bottom get little besides censure and rudeness.

The fellow at the bottom is having the hardest time to get along.

His income is small, there are many disappointments, perhaps dissatisfaction and complaints at home. When he is treated as an unimportant cog in the machinery, it hurts.

Give the fellow a little joy, kindness from you might create.

You will get a lot of satisfaction out of the pleasure your thoughtfulness brings to him.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Parent May Make Child Lie Unaware

Keep Eyes Open, Punish Only On Your Own Evidence

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

"DEAR DR. MYERS: Have a daughter, age 4½, who lies like a trooper. Can see no reason for this, as I have always told my children that I would never punish them for telling the truth, when they have done something they shouldn't. When the little girl lies, from the look on her face you would think she were telling the truth, and she always puts the blame on her sisters, aged 6 and 2½ years. Wish you would advise me what to do. My husband says that my way of training isn't right, that I'm too easy, but I can't see that he has any better results. The oldest says that she is too old to spank. Maybe, I don't know, but would appreciate advice."

Answer: Apparently you are driving your daughter to lie, unaware. Don't corner her. Don't ask her to testify against herself, and don't ask either child to tell on the other nor act on their tattling. Just keep your eyes open and act on the evidence you have.

Naturally, children like to play with those of their age. Encourage this, for it is the best education possible. Attract other children to your home, of your six-year-old's age. Better try to get along as much as possible without spanking. A good substitute is to let the child sit in a chair doing nothing for 20 minutes or so, by the clock. In that event you seal your lips and let the child serve the full time regardless of promise or complaints.

There are several chapters in my new book, "The Modern Parent," which might help you. You should find it in your library.

Some children have asked me to say a word about jealous mothers. There are some jealous mothers, to be sure, who do not know they are jealous. If an older daughter has been very companionable with her mother and has had few girl or boy friends, her mother easily can feel much disturbed when there grows up a close friendship between the daughter and another person. Fathers are very likely to betray this childish trait, also, when the daughter has been doted on by the mother's friends, particularly if the affair seems to be growing serious.

All we can say is that such parents have not yet grown up themselves. It might be well for all of us parents to realize that such a trait is likely to crop out in any parent. Let us be on guard. None of us want to prove so childish. We really want to grow up with our children, however hard we find it to do so.

We just need to remember that as parents we cannot take the normal place of playmates, chums and companions to our children. No matter how good pals we are we have our natural limitations—a fact which is not always recognized by parents.

Business Women Are Vital Part Of This State, Says Pinchot

State Governor Issues Statement Proclaiming This Business Women's Week

Local executives of the Business and Professional Women's club have received a copy of the proclamation just issued by Pennsylvania's governor, Gifford Pinchot, asking the people of the Commonwealth to observe this as Business Women's Week.

The proclamation follows: "I thoroughly approved of the idea of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women which during the week of March 8 will call the attention of the public to the achievements of business women, and emphasize the important contribution women are making to the commercial, professional and civic life of today."

Pennsylvania's business and professional women have been of inestimable value in bringing the Keystone State to the fore. They are an integral part of the State's greatness and without them, Pennsylvania would be indeed unfortunate.

It is my sincere wish that the people of the Commonwealth appropriately observe what you call Business Women's Week."

Signed, Gifford Pinchot.

Tooth Health Is Gained By Correct Diet

Foods Rich In Vitamin D Produce Calcium For Bones

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I touched on this subject a week or two ago, but there has just come to notice a report that is too interesting to allow to pass by. At the risk of repetition, then, I shall describe the work of the Mellanbys, husband and wife, in England.

Perhaps the best way to introduce the subject is by quoting Professor Mellanby's own words:

"It is now possible in animals to produce any degree of perfection or imperfection of teeth by different diets given during the period of dental development."

Isn't that an astounding fact? You can take one litter of animals, and no matter how healthy they are otherwise you can make them have bad teeth by giving them a certain diet. While another litter nearby, in the same climate and environmental conditions, is made to have sound teeth simply from another diet.

"Substances tending to produce perfectly calcified, bright, shiny and evenly arranged teeth include milk, egg yolk, cod liver oil, or indeed any substances rich in vitamin D while cereals in the absence of sufficient vitamin D produce defective calcified, dull and discolored, unevenly arranged teeth."

Teeth, of course, require calcium which they get in milk. Hence the value of milk in the diet. Apparently they also require vitamin D and other vitamins found in egg yolk.

Dental decay is very common in England, and studies such as the Mellanbys performed are for that reason particularly valuable. They found, for instance, that in 1500 English school children 95 per cent had defective structure of the back molars, and that 85 per cent of these had decay. But the encouraging fact is that on diet alone much of this could be remedied. Not only prevented, mind you, but remedied after it had occurred.

For instance, using animal experiments, an attempt was made to find out the damage done by attrition and injury of the teeth. When artificial attrition was performed on a dog's teeth by rubbing them with a file, it was found that the teeth react by producing in the dentine adjacent to the dental pulp, some new secondary dentine. It was found that the production of this secondary dentine was controllable by the same dietetic means as controlled the primary dental structure. So we may conclude that not only will proper diet prevent dental decay, but will actually help to stop it after it has begun.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
F. H. S. Kansas: "A child had an attack of infantile paralysis six weeks ago. She has recovered except that she drags her foot as she walks. Should she stay off her feet as much as possible, or exercise and massage the foot?"

Answer: Exercise is recommended for infantile paralysis cases after the acute stage of invasion is passed. It helps to restore the full amount of motion of which the paralyzed muscles are to become capable. Walking on a badly crippled foot may possibly cause deformities. The whole question is an individual one which should be left to the doctor in charge.

Girl Is Exiled From Beaver County

BEAVER, Pa., Mar. 12.—Although acquitted by a jury in connection with the shooting and wounding of George Compton, Rochester boxer, Mary Brown, 24-year-old blonde trigger-girl, was today banished from Beaver county by Judge William A. McConnell.

The court informed the girl that unless she left the county immediately and stayed away, an old English common law would be invoked that would place her under heavy bonds to keep the peace. This is the third time the local courts have invoked this old law in cases of persons acquitted by jurors.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. You often break out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. Rush for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Recent a medicine.

WATER FIGHT COSTLY

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., Mar. 12.—Connecticut found it expensive to fight to prevent the state of Massachusetts diverting the waters of the Connecticut river. The state treasury has been called upon to pay $315,000, so far, in waging the fight and additional payments to be paid will send the total of the bill above $500,000. The fight was a losing one, so far as Connecticut was concerned, but Massachusetts gained the right to use its own rivers to secure potable waters for its citizens.

Progressives To Adopt Program At Closing Session

Economic Depression Mostly Discussed By Progressives In Capital

UTILITY ISSUE IS CONSIDERED

Conference Will Adjourn Tonight—Committees Will Be Appointed

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—The recurring periods of economic depression, the present plight of 3,000,000 jobless men and the political activity of public utilities today topped the agenda of the National Conference of Progressives at its second session.

The unemployment and power issues were laid before the gathering of Progressives from every walk of life in order to formulate a program of legislation for submission to the next Congress. The Progressives have determined to inaugurate a campaign to educate the public and win national support of their legislative program in the next Congress.

Will Adopt Program
With legislative relief for the unemployed and legislative restrictions on the power interests under discussion today, the Progressives will meet tonight to adopt a program on the whole agenda of their conference. This will include the subjects of tariff reforms, agricultural relief and governmental reforms, which were discussed at the opening sessions yesterday.

Two of the Senate's outstanding

Progressives headed the unemployment and power debates. The youthful Senator Robert M. LaFollette Jr. (R) of Wisconsin, presided at the unemployment session this morning, while Senator George W. Norris (R) of Nebraska, was to preside at the power debate this afternoon.

In his keynote speech, Norris touched on the power issue, charging the power trust was seeking control of both major parties, had corrupted state legislatures, dominated regulatory commissions and even sought to control the action of presidents.

Administration Criticized

At the opening session, the Hoover administration came in for serious criticism. This was particularly true in the discussions of farm relief. A number of noted agricultural leaders, including Milo Reno of Des Moines, and John A. Simpson, president of the Farmer's Union, charged President Hoover with forgetting his campaign pledges to place agriculture on an economic equality with industry. They stressed bankrupt conditions on the farms, surplus food rotting, and the fact the farmer buys in an industrially protected market while facing the competition of the world in selling his own products.

The plight of agriculture was closely linked to tariff reforms. Many speakers demanded revision of the tariff. A few suggested taking the tariff out of the hands of both the president and the U. S. tariff commission, keeping this indirect taxing power in the hands of Congress and revising the tariff annually to meet changing conditions.

To Adjourn Tonight
At the session on government reforms, Charles A. Beard, New York writer, urged Congress to speed legislative wheels by abolishing minor tasks, but instead it retain control of all independent agencies created to administer its laws. He also proposed a national economic council to advise both President and Congress on economic problems.

The conference will adjourn tonight but special committees will be named undoubtedly to direct the campaign of public education. It was apparent the Progressives intend to dominate the next Congress and hope to have the nation's support for their legislative proposals.

'Peer Gynt' Will Furnish Theme

Rabbi Menkes To Speak On "The Sphinx Of Personality"

It has ever been the task of the prophet throughout the ages to reveal conditions as they are in order that mankind may learn of things as they might have been and should be.

Since Henrik Ibsen, the great intellectual giant of the north, has dedicated his life to that sublime task, undaunted by disapproval, ridicule and hatred, nor by poverty and solitude, he may well be classed among the great prophets of the modern era.

The great dramas which he has beaten out on the anvil of genius before the flaming forge of life, are so many startling revelations touching the various phases of social and individual existence.

With a merciless pen he removed the rouge of sham and the paint of make-believe from the cheeks of hypocrites, wherever he found them; commerce and trade, profession and art, church and state—we find them all portrayed in his forceful plays.

His comedy-drama entitled Peer Gynt merits special attention, because it holds forth a great truth, which is applicable to every individual irrespective of time and place.

What this truth may be, will be discussed by Rabbi Menkes at the regular Friday evening services at Temple Israel tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

After the services there will be a social hour with Mrs. Montgomery Linville acting as hostess. Sabbath morning services at 10:30. The pulpit flowers will be furnished by Mrs. Norman Ehrlich in loving memory of her father, Nathan Strauss.

Prep Swimmers End First Tests

After Five Weeks Of Instruction Under Meermans Midgels Are In Form

After a period of five weeks of instruction and tests, 12 members of the Prep Swimmers Club have completed their first group of tests. This swimming club is comprised of the best swimmers in the midge class, about 20 in number.

They hold their meetings every Saturday morning after the regular midge class. Every meeting of the club was well attended. Much interest was displayed by the boys in the tests given.

Next Saturday members of the club will start another group of tests. Following are the boys who have passed the first group of tests satisfactorily: Willis Rancey, Mike Nader, Roy Denney, James Barr, Nimer Habib, Walter Rice, Stanley Blair, Seth Douthett, Tom Cramer, Bob Meermans, Jr., Robert Johnston, Ralph Crader. The boys were tested in the breast stroke, back stroke, side overarm stroke, dive for puck, and ability to swim the stroke that the individual could swim best. There will be three groups of test given each test being more difficult to pass. Roger Meermans is in charge.

Peter's Adventures

GRANTHER HAS RELATIVES, TOO

It was Daddy Long-Legs' turn to go into a rage. "Don't you dare say anything about the Fly family!" commanded he, shaking his antennae in Granther's face. "In fact, there isn't anything to say against them!"

"Oh, isn't there?" Granther was sarcastic. "The whole Fly family have the meanest tricks! None among the little people have such stinging tongues and nasty habits. No, sir! If I was related to the Flies I should keep the fact to myself. It would be bad enough to go about bearing those balancers of yours that betray your race to the world. I am glad there is nothing about me that gives away my family connections, like that! To be stingy, there are some tough characters in my family, but what folks do not know doesn't worry them, and I never speak of the Fuzzy Arachnids if I can help it."

At this point Peter's curiosity got the better of him.

"For goodness' sake, what in the world is a Fuzzy Arachnid?" demanded the boy.

Perhaps it pleased Granther Graybeard to interest a perfect stranger in his affairs, or it may have been that he simply wanted Daddy Long-Legs to see how important the stranger thought him. At any rate, the crotchety old fellow took great pains to be agreeable to Peter.

"Arachnid is my family name, young fellow!" said Granther. "Spiders, mites, scorpions—all are relatives of mine, although I never boast about them. But I'm a harvestman, myself, and perfectly harmless!"

Next: "Caught in a Lie."

OF THE LITERATI

I paused to swap the time of day with the apple woman at Sixth Ave. and 42d St. She told me she was a "literary lady" who had embarked in the retail fruit trade because she couldn't pay the rent with rejection slips.

Every night, she says, she writes a couple of hundred words on her latest book, "The Experiences of an Apple Seller."

I asked her why she wrote.

"Why not?" she said. "It's a refined occupation and once you get into it, it's quite lucrative. Look at Fannie Hurst and Edna Ferber!"

"Two," said I, "out of how many?"

"Oh, that's not the way to look at it," she told me.

"Perhaps you're right. It may be I'm getting old."

"Nonsense," she laughed. "You're a mere youngster. Look at me. I was seventy-five my last birthday."

Was she kidding herself, or kidding me? I'll never know. Probably kidding me. Anyway, I bought an apple—and got a paragraph.

AN ASININE LAW

No waitress in Tammany Town is permitted to labor in a restaurant after 10 o'clock at night. At that hour she must pocket her last tip and skidoo.

For several years restaurant men have pleaded in vain with legislators to be permitted to hire women, as waitresses, for night work. The waitresses themselves, joined in the petition. Work and trays are lighter at night and tips are heavier.

But so far the legislators have been obdurate.

Scrubwomen, actresses, chorus girls, night hostesses, trained nurses, women reporters, female taxi drivers and telephone operators may labor from candle-lighting time till dawn.

But if a girl slides you a plate of beans in a restaurant after 10 o'clock at night, legally, she's "injuring her health and morals."

AN EARLY BIRD

Authors are becoming younger every day.

Longmans-Green & Co. announce the advent of Sylvia McNeely, aged ten, to their spring list. Sylvia turned in her "Diry" for an advance on royalties of $1, despite the warning she wrote on page one of her book:

I pity the butcher
I pity the cook.
I pity the guy
That touches this book.

TAKING THINGS EASY

The art of the shoplifter is old and its technique has not changed much with the years. The shoplifter today is better dressed than his shabby predecessor. That's about the only difference.

The gentry is divided into two classes. The "opportunity" pilferer and the professional. Most of the professionals are women and a majority are under thirty. Not easily distinguished from the mass of shoppers they make their way, for the most part, unmolested in and out of the shops, their manner assured their hands deft.

CUSTOMERS ALWAYS RIGHT!

In one Fifth Avenue shop complaints were made that tapes-tried backs and seats of chairs worth as much as $1,200 were being cut out with a razor. Chair after chair was ruined. No culprit was found.

Detectives hung a tapestry worth $1,100 on the wall and kept vigil. On the fourth day a man entered the shop leaving a loose tan coat. Quick as a flash he whipped the tapestry from the wall, jammed it under his coat, folded his arms in front of him so as to keep it in place and started to walk out.

He was arrested and admitted having perpetrated similar thefts aggregating thousands of dollars.

So numerous and persistent are shoplifters that one of the largest department stores in town maintains a staff of 100 detectives, each of whom yearly justifies his employment.

Certain deep-sea angling fish have tentacles extending from their mouths equipped with a light which is offered as bait to passing fish.

I used many different medicines, but could get no relief from the painful soreness and swelling. I was extremely nervous. I couldn't sleep nights and I became run down so that I felt tired and worn out all the time."

"I can honestly say that Nu-Erb has done wonders for me. It has relieved the pains which formerly caused me so much suffering. My kidneys appear to be stronger. My nerves are steadier and I sleep soundly the whole night through. It also seems that my entire system has improved, for I am feeling stronger and better in every way. I do not hesitate to recommend this medicine to anyone suffering as I did."

Lumberman Was Murdered
With Robbery As Motive,
Investigators Believe

(International News Service)
RIDGWAY, Pa., Mar. 12.—Brutal details of the murder of James Lower, a lumberman, found beaten to his death in a cabin on the outskirts of the town, were laid bare today by the testimony of witnesses at the coroner's inquest.

Meanwhile, with robbery definitely established as the motive, state police, investigating the killing, announced they were confident of capturing the assailant before nightfall.

"Death from a compound fracture of the skull at the hands of an unknown assailant," was the official verdict of the jury empaneled by Dr. S. T. McCabe, Elk county coroner, in the Vanaken funeral home here last night.

Leo Werner, county detective, in charge of the case, disclosed the fact that he had recovered a wooden bludgeon, stained with blood and matted with human hair, with which it is believed Lower was killed.

The victim's attacker must also have used an iron instrument, Werner said, because the skull was found penetrated in two places.

Dr. J. G. Flynn, who performed the autopsy, pointed out to the jury that the attacker struck first from the rear, fracturing the base of the skull.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. A-15, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—Adv.

Knights Of Pythias
Hold Big Meeting

Wampum Lodge Entertains
Many Visitors From This
And Other Places

First of a series of union get-together meetings of the various Knights of Pythias lodges in this section, especially in Lawrence county, was held this week at Wampum, with Wampum Lodge, No. 440 as host to the assembled group. The attendance was over a hundred in spite of the weather conditions and many counter attractions throughout the district. Representatives were in attendance from Lodges No. 237, 117, 160, 398, 420 and 466.

Excellent addresses were made by many of the members in attendance and the session proved both interesting and instructive. The evening was brought to a close by the serving of a fine lunch which was enjoyed by all so fortunate as to be present.

As a result of the success of this meeting, it is planned to hold these union meetings with various lodges as hosts as frequently as possible.

The next of these meetings is planned for Monday, March 30, 1931, at the hall of Amazon Lodge No. 336 in the Seventh Ward. From the interest shown in the meeting at Wampum, a much greater attendance is expected at the Amazon Lodge union meeting.

MIDLAND, Tex., Mar. 12.—The world's cheapest jail was finished at Midland this week. It cost $130. The county commission donated steel and brick from the old county jail, and the economical city council had the bastille erected for a mere $100. The new city prison is only an overnight stop, however, as the city uses the new county jail for its principal offenders.

Liquor Runner Is Nabbed In Wheeling

Young Man With Truck Load
Of Liquor Is Taken Into Custody

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Mar. 12.—William James Powell, 22, of Belaire, O., was under $1,000 bond to appear for a hearing today following a sensational capture by Federal prohibition agents after a chase of 15 city blocks in South Wheeling and the wrecking of the liquor-laden auto.

Powell was pursued by the two agents who spied him as he entered the town of South Wheeling and attempted to swerve the agents off the trail by turning his machine into a ditch. At full speed, Powell shot his car into the excavation, jumping to safety as the car was demolished.

He then boarded a passing truck, but the Federal men continued on his trail. The truck driver slowed down as the officers opened fire, and Powell was caught as he leaped to the street. Agents said they found 17 gallons of contraband in the wrecked machine.

Ring Neck Eggs Will Be Hatched

Mercer County Sportsmen May Procure Eggs Through
Game Warden Perschka

MERCER, Pa., Mar. 12.—Sportsmen of the county desiring ring-neck pheasant eggs for hatching should communicate with Game Warden O. A. Perschka at once. Perschka may be located at his Sandy Lake home where the eggs will be shipped for distribution by the game commission of the state. In 1930 2500 eggs were set in the county under the supervision of sportsmen who used clucking hens. There is no doubt of the method being helpful in husbanding the stock of county ring-necks.

FEW EVADE LAW
With 7200 dogs in Mercer county licensed since January 1st, Agent Harry Higbee is encountering difficulty in finding dogs that do not wear the brass tag denoting payment of the customary fee. Dog owners who are evading payment are keeping their dogs locked up, says Higbee.

Very few dogs have been shot this year.

TO GROW MORE HAY
Emergency hay crops will be grown in every county of Pennsylvania during the coming summer if the plans of the bureau of agricultural extension of State College have any weight in making up the farmer's crop calendar. Meetings will be held soon at county farmers to put over this plan which the state economists say is necessary due to drought conditions. Not enough hay for animals was raised last year. The plan this season is to plant emergency crops due to the fact that dry weather would snuff out the seed planted.

CASES ARE LISTED
Eight cases are listed for hearing at the May common pleas term. The term date ends on April 6th stated Prothonotary Daisy T. Morse today.

Tony Pepe tried at the April term of 1930 and found guilty on a liquor charge has been refused a new trial by Judge J. A. McLaughlin. Attorneys for Pepe petitioned the court at once for another hearing following the verdict.

Final Action On School Tax Rate At April Session

Formal action bearing upon the settlement of New Castle's school tax millage for the 1931-32 term was postponed last night by the board of education until its April 1 meeting.

While the board has definitely set 16 mills for the period, final action, under the law, cannot be taken until after April 1.

The millage question was unofficially decided at the last business session of the directors.

Will Remove Some Unightly Trees

An expenditure of $299 from the New Castle school district funds toward the improvement or removal of unsightly and ragged trees which now adorn school property was authorized by the board of education last night.

Harry Shontz, local tree expert, told the board that considerable improvement might be made. He had previously visited the different school grounds.

President D. B. Woodcock, in the appropriation motion, was instructed to delegate a committee to select a tree expert and to administer the work. He will name it later.

Board Authorizes Compensation For Janitor's Widow

Proper officers of the New Castle board of education were authorized last night to execute a warrant for the payment of $40 compensation now due Mrs. Anna M. Wolford, Maryland avenue, under the order of referee in the claim for death of her late husband, Walter H. Wolford, killed in a fall while on duty at the Lincoln and Garfield schools.

The payment extends from February 9 to March 9, 1931, at the rate of $10 per week.

The board further resolved that proper officers be given authority, from time to time, hereafter, to execute warrants for two weeks' compensation at $10 per week at the end of each two weeks' period, as claims may become due and payable.

This authorization, it was explained, is to continue so long as the present status of the said parties shall be and remain as at the present time.

House Probers Hear Complaints From Cities About P. S. C. Matters

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 12.—

One of a welter of testimony, most of it complaint against the Public Service Commission, before the house investigating committee, is emerging a series of proposed reforms to the Public Service Law of Pennsylvania, which it is expected will be embodied in recommendations to the house at the close of the investigation.

Wednesday's session was taken up entirely from 2 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock with testimony of officials of boroughs of the state, in all about 55 boroughs being heard. Their stories interlocked, all of them being a general protest against present utility rates, and a complaint that the Public Service Commission had been indifferent to their welfare.

The Allegheny Valley Improvement Association presented a set of printed recommendations which proposed the repeal of the entire public Service Act of 1913 and thereby return to the courts, to the legislature and to the governor, all of the powers that have by this law, been delegated to the Public Service Commission, and thus restore to the people through their local authorities, the right to regulate their own public service matters by contract with public service corporations through limited term franchises.

The second recommendation takes a rap at the state senate when it says, "If the Public Service Commission law cannot be repealed, because the senate as usual would stand in the way, then it should be amended in the following respects. Amend it so that the commissioners would be approved by the house of representatives, instead of the senate after appointment by the governor."

"Amend it so that the greatest possible amount of competition will be secured. Amend it so that increases in rates will have to be approved by the commission before going into force, and place the burden of proof upon the corporation to show the necessity of the increase rather than have the taxpayer show the reason for its not being adopted."

These are the gist of the recommendations and are more or less a repetition of the ideas expressed by members of the committee. The ideas expressed by the association will be taken into consideration by the house committee when it makes its report to the governor.

Borough officials from all over Pennsylvania were present at the hearing Wednesday, although out of the entire list, there was not one Lawrence county borough representative.

Thursday the cities have their day in court, and it was expected that about fifteen cities would be represented. Of these Chester was expected to have the most complaint to offer over water rates, charged by the same corporation that took over the Scranton Spring Brook Water Company, which complaint brought 2000 people to Harrisburg from Luzerne and Lackawanna counties last week. Although no notification was received from New Castle it was understood, from an article in the New Castle News that City Solicitor Robert M. White would be present.

While the chief complaint of the boroughs Wednesday was raises in utility rates, the general tone of the speakers of the various boroughs was a lack of confidence in the Public Service Commission. Thomas Chrostwaite of Hanover, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Boroughs Association said that "the members felt that the wheels were greased for rate increases". Other speakers said they had quit going to the Public Service Commission because they had been forced at other times to spend thousands of dollars fighting their cause, and then were turned down, although they felt that their complaints were just.

Already the testimony in the house investigation runs into many thousands of words and with the exhibits and letters makes several volumes. By the time the hearings are completed, there will be a young library of testimony.

Insurance Merger Is Aid To Miners

John Mitchell Insurance Company Merges With Larger Company

(International News Service)
ASHLAND, Pa., Mar. 12.—Policyholders of the John Mitchell Life Insurance Company, which was organized to insure miners because old-line companies refused to accept them as risks, are now protected by the Union Cooperative Insurance Company, of Washington, Martin Brennan, president of District No. 9, United Mine Workers, announced here with the completion of a merger of the companies.

The Washington company, Brennan said, has taken over all assets and liabilities of the Mitchell company as of June 1, 1930. He urged policyholders, now numbering about 10,000, to continue payments in order to keep their insurance.

The John Mitchell Company's affairs became involved because of claim payments and two years ago a district convention at Minersville forbade officers of District No. 9 to advance the company any more funds to relieve the company of financial difficulties. Since that time, district officials who were instrumental in founding the company have been working for a merger.

The John Mitchell Company operated in the Scranton, Hazleton, Pottsville and Shamokin districts.

precinct, Seventh ward, protest the closing of the Lawrence school building for the following reasons:

First, the depreciation of the value of property and renting of property. Second, the added expense for street car fare and distance is too far to walk for the smaller children. At its February meeting, when the formal move to close the school was made, a possible division in the enrollment was recommended, half of the pupils becoming a part of the Terrace Avenue school and the other half a part of the Mahoning building.

The residents, through their speakers last night, told the board it was a move most detrimental to the children. They also argued the economic effect would be a staggering blow to the district.

Steady Attendance Decline
In closing the grade building, the board acted upon a recommendation growing out of the steady decline in school attendance there. The enrollment is said not to be large enough to warrant its operation.

The board also had in mind the pupils' welfare, assuming that a transfer to either Terrace or the Mahoning building would benefit the boys and girls. The two larger schools, it is said, would furnish a greater variety of instruction.

Outlining the reasons upon which the precinct residents base the justification for their complaint, Mr. Bevan, at the outset, said: "Gentlemen, I have been asked to act as spokesman tonight for this group of citizens. While I am not a resident of the district myself I can feel their cause and believe they have a firm right to ask your consideration tonight."

You propose to close the school to which they send their sons and daughters, in which they have an interest. I have every right to believe that your action should be guided by their complaint, for it's a just one.

Mr. Bevan at this point went into the different phases involved, citing those which the petition carries. If it's for the purpose of keeping down taxation that you have acted to close the school, let me say, gentlemen, that you're to be commended for thinking along that line, the spokesmen continued. But that's not the only thing to consider; there are pupils who must think of first.

I'm told that when you're planning a new school building you see to it that six-year-old children don't have to walk more than a mile. Personally speaking, my own children walk more than eight blocks. I know it hurries them at noon, and then in bad weather of course things are even worst.

If you can send part of the Lawrence children to the Terrace building and a part of them to Mahoning, the distance some will cover will be much greater. The Terrace pupils must trudge across the Gardner viaduct, a more dangerous thing to the small boy and girl than the Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

At the present time, a part of the Lawrence graders must cross the Pennsylvania right-of-way to get to school. The board move would eliminate this, the children on the western side of the tracks being sent to Mahoning with those on the eastern side going to Terrace.

When Mr. Bevan had finished, the board listened to other residents of the precinct. Each pleaded for a reconsideration, pointing out that the contemplated move would effect the district terribly.

At different times the board members answered the residents, declaring the basic reasons for their decision. They assured the delegation of their interest and promised further deliberation.

Board Member A. C. Hyde asked the directors to act only after considering the residents, taking every phase of their complaint under advisement.

The matter was set aside during the meeting while other business was transacted. After midnight, when the last piece of business came up, the directors voted to "table" the motion until the April 1 meeting. Final action will probably be taken that night.

Pinchot Promises Intensive Probe Of Coal Industry

United Miners Assured That Committee Will Take Up Coal Probe

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—Assurance that the coal industry would be included in the investigations now under way here was given today by Governor Pinchot in a letter to President James Mark and other officers of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, at Clearfield.

Alleging unfair practices on the part of operators, including operation of unfair company stores and short weights of coal on the tipple, the miners recently wrote the Governor asking that their industry be included in the probe.

Replies To Letter
The Governor Replied:
"Dear Mr. Mark:
"I have your letter of February 22, with which you enclosed a letter unanimously endorsed at a mass meeting of miners and business men at Portage, Pa., on Sunday, February 22, 1931.

"I have noted with interest and much concern your statement of facts concerning the business methods pursued by many of the coal operators of Central Pennsylvania. The matter of short weights of coal on the tipple and the operation of company stores have been controversial issues in the bituminous coal industry for many years and frequently assume a position of vital importance during business depressions.

"It is true that the laws of this commonwealth afford protection to coal miners of this state against short weight on the tipple, and your complaint concerning the Sonman Coal company, located in Cambria county, that being the only company specifically mentioned, has been referred to our bureau of weights and measures for prompt investigation and such action as may be proper under the law, and I have the assurance of that bureau that the checking of scales on coal tips in Central Pennsylvania is having and will continue to have its careful attention.

"The company stores conducted by the coal operators and the unfair practices of which your committee complains will be given further consideration. Certainly some ways and means can be devised to remedy the deplorable situation which exists in many parts of the bituminous coal industry of this commonwealth, and I wish to assure you that the several investigations I now have under way include the coal industry as one of the major problems affecting the interests of the public welfare.

"Sincerely Yours,
"(signed) Gifford Pinchot."

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Relieved.

A Simple, Safe and Reliable Way
That Calls for No Ugly Trumpets,
Phones Or Other Instruments

To have catarrhal deafness is very annoying and embarrassing. People who are deaf in this way are generally highly sensitive on this subject. And yet many catarrhal deaf folks carry around instruments that call attention to their infirmity. Therefore people who are hard of hearing, who suffer from head noises or who are actually deaf from catarrhal trouble, will be glad to know of a simple treatment that can be easily made up at home for a few cents cost that is really quite efficient in relieving the disagreeable deafness and head noises caused by catarrh.

From New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's or any druggist get one ounce of Euphorbia strength. Take this home and put it into a simple syrup made of 1 pint of hot water and a half cup of sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This treatment should be tonic action remove the inflammation in the middle ear, thus a catarrhal condition would be likely to cause, and with the inflammation gone the distressing head noises, deafness, dizziness and that dull feeling in the ears should gradually disappear. In New York, Dr. J. C. Gifford, M.D., has cured many cases of catarrhal deafness with this simple treatment.

VOCATIONAL STUDY PRIME AIM OF DRIVE

With dignity befitting an event of far reaching importance in the life of the community, city boy leaders and vocational guidance workers inaugurated the annual
"Move Up Forward" drive at noon
Wednesday during gathering of approximately 850 men in the Senior High auditorium.

The annual campaign for interest in vocational study was started this year with an inspiring address,
"Choosing A Life Work" by the Rev.
G. S. Bennett of the First Christian Church. Under the direction of the Senior Hi-Y of the Y. M. C. A. and the Kiwanis Club vocational guidance committee, of which William Moody is the chairman, the M. U. F. program will reach its greatest activity next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17, 18 and 19.

Scores of young men will be benefitted from interviews which they will be permitted to have with business, professional religious and leaders in other branches of civic life.

It is the privilege each one enjoys to select the leaders with whom he desires interviews.

The meeting in the Senior High was conducted by the son of Rev.
Bennett, Raymond Bennett, who is the president of the Senior Hi-Y of the New Castle Y.M.C.A.

Rev. Bennett declared it was important that the student make up his mind on his future work, while still in high school, in order that the college course preparation may be planned accordingly.

"There are usually two things that are considered by people when about to select a life work," Rev.
Bennett said in the course of his address. "One is the making of money and other is in serving the community."

"A young man who wants to make money is not to be condemned," the speaker said, "because money in itself is not an evil." Rev.
Bennett pointed to several famous "money-makers" like Heinze, Wanamaker and the Rockefellers, whose money has been a source of aid to others less fortunate, and able to benefit from the millionaires' charities.

Rev. Bennett pointed to the life of Edison as the ideal one in which service to the community is well exemplified.

NOTES OF TROOP "F"

103RD CAVALRY
OF NEW CASTLE

The dance this evening under the auspices of the Cavalry club promises to be a success in every way.
Sergt. Stewart and Pvt. Trax have completed all arrangements. Officers will attend.

The commander announced today that there are two vacancies on the troop roster. Young men of exceptional character who wish to serve their community are invited to interview Captain Bintrim for admission.

Approved qualifications for small arms, including the rifle, saber and pistol, have been received at the armory from the regimental commander, Col. Colahan.

The rooms for the troop office and club headquarters are about ready and, Capt. Bintrim said, preparations are being made to open the new office in the rear of the present one. The room in which the troop office has been located during the past, will become the club room.

Let's hope the Wickersham report doesn't qualify as a historical document. Imagine licking school kids for not understanding it.

Woman And Four Girls On Trial

Big Crowd Hears Testimony
Regarding House Kept By Angelina Spencer

County Court room No. 2 was crowded this morning when the case of Angelina Spencer, charged with keeping a bawdy house and three girls, who were charged with being inmates, was taken up for trial before Judge Chambers. The girls were Mary Troth, Helen Smith and Elizabeth Ross.

Testimony in behalf of the commonwealth was given by State policeman Richards and Hennecheck,
Constable Sharp Leslie, Sheriff
Frank Johnston, and County Detective Lee. The state police Leslie and Lee told about a visit they had made to the house.

There was no other men present when they arrived, but the four women were all there. The girls, according to the witnesses, were scantily clad. Asked to explain they said that the girls wore thin dresses which did not reach their knees and did not have any stockings on.

Asked on cross examination if they had not seen girls on the street with their dresses and no stockings, they admitted that they had.

County Detective Lee said that he had received anonymous calls about the place, and that complaints had also been made by Mayor Gillespie,
Chief of Police Horner, Policeman
Hilliers, Policewoman Minnie Mc-
Kibben and others.

The Spencer house is located just outside the city limits in Union township, and for that reason the city authorities turned it over to the county. The case is still on trial.

De Lillo Is Found Guilty Of Theft

Claimed That He Had Taken
$20 From Pocket Of William Baker During
Auto Ride

The jury in the case of Vincent James De Lillo, charged with larceny from person, which was tried in court before Judge Hildebrand, returned a verdict of "guilty". The case was one in which it was claimed that De Lillo, Lawrence Paglia and Tony Scopio had taken William Baker in a car to his home near the paper mill. On the trip Baker was sitting on De Lillo's knee. On the way they stopped at a gas station to get some gas. When Baker arrived home he missed a $20 which he had in his pocket, and called up Deputy Sheriff Andy Vendetti, who placed the young men under arrest.

Baker claimed that the money was taken from his pocket. De Lillo, who admitted that he was under the influence of liquor, claimed that he had found the money, which it was alleged the Baker had dropped at the gas station. De Lillo had placed the bill in his shoe, according to the testimony. It had been divided among the occupants of the car. When De Lillo sobered up he went to Baker and offered him the share he had received. Paglia and Scopio, who entered pleas in connection with the case, gave testimony for the commonwealth.

LIKE MAGIC PIMPLES DISAPPEAR

Pittsburgh Man Grateful

One of the many wonderful things about Peterson's Ointment—you don't have to wait long before it accomplishes results.

If you are troubled with pimples on your face and back—just rub on Peterson's Ointment before going to bed—rub it in good—wake up in the morning with your skin already starting to clear.

The mighty healing power of Pet-erson's rapidly banishes those ugly blemishes and makes you the proud possessor of charming skin beauty.

Mr. Ed. W. King of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "I had pimples all over my face for over a year. I had used other Ointments but they did no good. It was not until I tried Pet-erson's that I found the way to end pimples."

Pimples have disappeared in 24 hours when Peterson's Ointment was rubbed well into the skin one 35

lady students of the Benjamin Frank-

Lots of snow, no rain, no sunshine is what these young Misses want, for they have arranged for a sleigh party and if Jack Frost is nice at all he will cooperate and paint the county white.

Each of the 20 are members of the Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserve fashioned sled and team await them.

The party will be under way at about 5 o'clock. The girls will leave here

Congressman Swick To Enter Hospital

Will Undergo Operation In Walter Reed Hospital In Washington

Dr. J. Howard Swick of Beaver, congressman from the local district, will enter the Walter Reed hospital in Washington on March 23, where he will undergo an operation for hernia.

His many local friends here hope for a successful operation and a speedy recovery.

Police Should Get After These Autoists

Parking of automobiles in such a manner that it interrupts operation of street cars is occurring daily in North Mill street and operators are handicapped in maintaining schedules. One of the places is north of Sycamore Way in a "restricted zone" and another is north of North street.

It is probable that traffic police will take cognizance of the situation.

Patrons of the street cars are inconvenient and the operators are not to blame. It has been necessary in some cases to wait until automobiles have been used before cars could proceed.

FISHER BROS.

SUNDAY, MARCH 15TH, IS OFFICIAL
 FELT HAT DAY

Fisher Felt

NOW $2.95

Fisher Felt Hat prices are at the lowest level in ten years. That slouchy looking hat you saw is probably some high priced hat wearer trying to get his money's worth. Save the difference. Fisher's felt hats have all the style you can buy at any price, all the quality that is necessary, and a selection that probably cannot be equalled by any other two stores.

THE JIMMY WALKER—is the hat style 9 of 10 men will want and wear. It is a conservative shape that snaps down slightly.

THE FELT DERBY—is the newest hat shape. Its tightly curled brim is patterned after a derby.

THE CHUKKER—we saw this hat on an Englishman at the International Polo Games. Note the flat dented crown.

THE CURL WELT—this style, too, is a conservative one. The colors, also, are moderately dark.

THE BAT—is in town. Here is the young man's style for 1931. Note how small the shape is, how tightly the brim curls up in the back, and how severely it snaps down to hide the eyes.

Persian Home Replica Brought By Missionaries

One could most truly imagine on Wednesday evening he had been wafted through the air on the magic carpet and been set down in the midst of Persia as he pushed aside the elegant, colorful drapery that was hung across the door to the parlor of the First Presbyterian church and entered a realm that was permeated by a foreign atmosphere.

Here one found an exact replica of a Persian household, the various rooms being reproduced in miniature on the tables placed effectively about the room. Here one found a room of the bride and groom, and there to greet one was the bride and groom themselves, dressed in the more modern type of costume. The bride had laid by the more cumbersome of the clothes and freed her face and head of the draperies so commonly found on most women. Her wedding gown was made of white, which is seldom used in this country of color; her hair was left uncovered by anything except the sheerest of bridal veils and coiled artfully among the tresses were two small light bulbs, which she wears to attract attention to herself; under her arm was a small battery and button, which pressed the lights on and off at her will. The groom was attired in the newest model of Persian clothes, of a khaki color, and on his head was the new model cap, "kolah pahleva," which has been ordered by Reza Shah, the present ruler of Persia, who has prohibited the old fashioned turban.

Sees Husband In Mirror

The Persian bride sees her husband first in a mirror on her wedding day, and here in the room fitted for the newly wedded couple, one finds a small replica of a most elaborate mirror in which the young lady has viewed her spouse for the first time. On the floor is a gorgeous Persian rug in most beautiful colors, all hand made; there are also lying about small cushions for the guests to sit on and at one side of the room is placed the "poshti" or larger cushions, one to sit on and one placed against the wall to support the back. These form a most comfortable reclining place for the visitors. In one corner sits a large trunk, padlocked, to hold the valuables of the household, it is bound in tin and trimmed in the most colorful of paints.

Beds are not in vogue in Persia.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous gripping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c 30c and 60c. All druggists.

rolled up in most colorful wrappings are the mattress, pillows and bed clothes of the house and when not in use these are placed in niches in the wall, made to hold such articles, making more room during the day time in the house. The bed clothes in the wealthier homes are made of the most gorgeous silks, and embroidered in elaborate designs.

The "samovar" is one thing that all households must possess and it is customary to serve the guests with tea made in this large urn, which is heated by hot charcoal. "Dammeh" the tea is a familiar term in Persia and is in no way swearing; it simply means "steeping the tea." Draperies of the most exquisite textures and colors are draped about the walls.

Hodji's Household

One moves on to the next table and here one finds a room of the older householder or "hodji" he who has made the trip to Mecca. The home of the one reproduced showed one of the old time Persians; here he is in all the beauty of a full flowing beard, his head wrapped in a turban, which is now forbidden, and at his side his two wives; although they are permitted to take four wives; if a wife does not bear a son within a certain length of time the Persian is permitted to take unto himself another. The hodji wears the outer cloak, "abba" which is another article now forbidden by the shah. The older wife is regaled in most cumbersome clothes and over her face is the proverbial veil, which hides her face from the men of the country. In this room, which is most beautiful, is a floor covering of beautiful soft, hand made rug; samovar of brass in a corner; the bowl and pitcher, which is used when a guest arrives, for him to wash his hands; there is also a bag containing his prayer outfit: his prayer rug and stone or "sange namaz" which he uses to place his forehead upon as he bows to say his prayers. These stones are made from mud brought from Kerbelah. There also one finds the compass in a most beautiful brass case, exquisitely carved. This must be carried along when one is travelling in order to find the position of Mecca when one stops to pray.

Hung across one corner of the room is a small hammock, in which the baby is placed to sleep and a long cord attached to it allows the mother to rock baby while employed in household tasks about the room. The babies are wrapped in swaddling clothes and about their waist is wrapped a girdle embroidered most elaborately, with a face in the center; this is to keep away the "evil eye" and about the child's clothes are sewed many number of articles, which ward off the evil spirits.

Servant's Quarters

Then one comes to the room equipped for the servants, and here one finds the man and maid servant, dressed exactly as one finds them in this land of Mohammed. The cooking utensils are all made of copper and whitened; there is a stove, which can be filled with charcoal for cooking purposes and there are kettles of all kinds and sizes; there are also the water containers, some made of clay and others of metal. There is a table with a huge earthen container which keeps the family supply of water, then there is another table or bench, which has the drinking water and by keeping the water in these earthen jugs it gets as cold as if iced.

There are dishes shown here, small and large; the pans used for sweeping up the coals and the charcoal lighter; which looks like a wire cage; the glowing charcoal is placed in this and then swung about the head until a blaze is started, then it is put in the stove or samovar.

The houses are not heated and in

To End a Cough
In a Hurry, Mix
This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germladen phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

the northern part of Persia, the winters are rather severe, the temperature often falling to 10 below zero. No other method of heating is known but the pans of charcoal, which are placed in spots about the room and then the members of the family gather about these.

Garden Scene

On to yet another table one goes and here finds a Persian garden; with the well in one corner and over this is a wooden contraption like a huge wheel and on the middle is hung a bucket on a long rope; this drops into the well and is brought up again by a man pushing the wheel around with his feet.

Many flowers are grown in the garden, flower pots set artistically about add beauty to the gardens and the many watering pots are used often. When one visits in the summer, the servant goes about with a sprinkling can and cools the atmosphere by the abundant water he sprays about.

Clothes And Miscellaneous

About the chairs are placed the clothing, which have been worn by the Persians and many beautiful pieces of wonderfully embroidered goods has been brought to show the handsome workmanship of the people. The skirts of the women are like ballet like affairs about 12 inches long and the underskirts are the same length. This custom was started years ago by a shah who had visited Paris and saw the ballet costumes and was so pleased with them he went home and issued an edict that thereafter this costume must be worn by the women. Sometimes these skirts, made of heavy broad-clothed material weigh as much as twenty five pounds. Under these skirts are worn black trousers, and a short jacket is worn over an elaborate shirt of white, sometimes embroidered heavily. Over all the woman must wear a "chudra" which is a skirt like affair which ties about the waist and has an extra skirt at the back, which is pulled up over the head. There are black heavy ones for street wear and daintier ones for indoor ones, which are used in the house.

One waist was here which had been worn by a lady of high degree, as was shown by the length of the cuff, the deeper the cuff, the higher the position of the lady. Pieces of exquisite embroidery work attracted the eye with their bright colorings and beautiful patterns.

A camel equipped with its "caval" called attention to the mode of travelling. The caval consists of two small house like affairs that are hung from the sides of the animal and in these are placed the wife or wives and families of the hodji as he goes on his trips. The small house like affairs are covered with a rain proof material and then covered with satins or silks in bright colors and the accoutrements of the camel form most attractive pictures the bells hanging from the front of the camel send out a tinkling noise as he moves and a caravan of these animals is a regular orchestra.

A small donkey, with saddle bags made of beautiful Persian carpets carries the belongings of the family, and at other times, baskets are slung from his sides to carry fruits or other articles.

The collection of brass articles is one of beauty, showing some beautiful trays, the carvings on which tell in picture some old Persian stories; one in particular had the pictures of the various shahs carved upon it and the work is all done by hand and is exquisite in design and workmanship. Some vases in various shapes add great beauty to the collection and these are bowls, trays of pictures and plates, and small candle burners and an innumerable lot of small articles.

The shoes and slippers are worthy of mention; the knitted shoes being shown in the colors most used in their work. The turned up toes of the Persian slippers do not look so comfortable, but some of them are articles of beauty.

Brought For Education

Mrs. R. E. Hoffman, who is a missionary worker and the wife of Rolla E. Hoffman, who is a medical missionary in Meshed Persia, and supported by the First Presbyterian church, is in charge of the exhibit and has spent a great deal of time and thought on her collection.

Her aim in exactly reproducing, in miniature, the articles of clothing and furnishings, is to give the American people an exact picture of just how the Persians live and nothing could give one a clearer idea of their living than to view these rooms she has fitted up.

Mrs. Hoffman was born in Tabriz, Persia, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. P. Z. Easton, and has spent about twenty eight years of her life doing missionary work among the Persians and she feels that she understands this people as well or better even, than she understands the folks of United States.

The Hoffmans, with their two daughters, Elizabeth and Harriet are in the United States for their Sabbath year of furlough and are spending this week in New Castle.

The exhibit in the parlor of the First Presbyterian church is open to the public and is really an education in itself to see these marvelous objects brought by the Hoffmans. They may be seen at any time during the afternoon and evening.

Many Factors Cause Nation's Depression

Progressives In Conference Hear Speech By Senator LaFollette

Breakdown In Industrial, Financial And Political Leadership Scored

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 12.—A breakdown in the industrial, financial and political leadership of America has thrust the nation into an economic depression which forces 25,000,000 persons to suffer in the midst of plenty, the national conference of Progressives was told today by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., a round-table discussion of the unemployment problem.

A number of liberal-minded business men, labor leaders and legislators endorsed LaFollette's indictment of the nation's leaders. Calling on Progressives everywhere to assume leadership in the economic crisis, LaFollette suggested they draft a program of legislative and economic remedies which would restore prosperity to the people.

Remedial Measures. Among remedial measures suggested by LaFollette and other speakers were:

Creation of a federal agency to plan emergency work to meet unemployment cycles.

Legislation compelling industry to adopt unemployment insurance.

Use of government ownership of utilities to check private extortion.

Creation of a national economic council to advise the president and congress on economic issues.

Administration Assailed. The Hoover administration was assailed throughout the discussion for failing to meet the unemployment problem. LaFollette charged the president first tried to minimize conditions and then sought to block all remedial legislation. This was an indirect stab at the presidential veto of the Wagner unemployment relief bill and the administration opposition to federal funds for relieving distress.

LaFollette blamed the depression on the public's losses in purchasing power. He said the administration sat idle while this happened and that neither industrial nor financial leadership could solve this problem.

Proposal Made. Leo Wolman, New York economist, proposed unemployment insurance, government cooperation with industry in stabilizing conditions, and federal planning to meet depression by increased governmental works.

George E. Soule, of the New York Labor Bureau, blamed political, industrial and financial leaders for the business collapse. He proposed a national economic council to aid the federal government in planning measures to prevent periodical depressions.

New Liquor Racket In Pittsburgh Is Halted By Police

Man Named "Gregory" Being Hunted By Police—Made Small Cleanup

(International News Service.) PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—Pittsburgh's newest liquor racket, infant-child of a much worked jewelry game, today met its Waterloo at the cost of four victims.

Prominent clubmen, business men, and men-about-town provide the "cl" of clients, Inspector of Detectives Frank Boyd explained.

When the chosen victim has absented himself from town, the master mind of the racket wires the absentee's secretary that an important shipment is being made to the office and orders are given to receive the packages.

In this case, secretaries of each of the victims were instructed to pay a man by the name of "Gregory" $120 each for not more than "ten cases."

In four places, "Gregory" got the money.

In the fifth, a secretary detected an error in the employer's signature and police were soon apprised of "Gregory's" little scheme.

"Gregory" is the object of a police search today.

Marshall Is Found Guilty Of Robbery

Jury Believes Story Of Case As Told By Commonwealth's Witnesses

Verdict of guilty as indicted was returned by a jury at court in the case of Andy Marshall, who was charged with robbing Samuel Sankovich of Bessemer of $400. The case was tried before Judge Hildebrand. It was alleged that Marshall and Joe Morrocco had invited Sankovich to ride in a car with them and that while he was in the car they robbed him of the money. Morrocco entered a plea in the case, but Marshall maintained that he had not helped in the robbery. He claimed Morrocco handed him a pocketbook containing money, but Morrocco maintained that Marshall had taken the pocketbook out of Sankovich's pocket. Marshall will be sentenced later.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new remedy known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's prescription is a quick acting yet harmless internal medicine. After years of study he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer of itching, bleeding or protruding piles to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's and good druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will positively end piles in any form or money back. On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should secure a bottle of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID tablets today.

What he really needed was both Fire and Rental Protection. Fire Insurance would have paid for his house and furniture. Rent Insurance would have covered not only the "lost income" for the "rented half" of his home, but also his own rent elsewhere while the premises were being rebuilt.

EDENBURG

At the Bible school workers conference of the Christian church held at the home of Mrs. Laura Coates on Tuesday evening a number of important subjects were discussed among them being the teachers training class which has just been enrolled, the following committee was also appointed to look after a Mothers Day program. Chairlady, Mrs. Emerson Morrow, Mrs. Clarence Jones and I. M. Hofmeister.

The many friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Lawrence Moore of New Castle has been taken to Jameson Memorial hospital suffering with pneumonia. Mrs. Moore was Elmina Rape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rape of the north-side.

Mrs. Sarah McIntosh has received word that her niece son little Richard Burns of Lowellville is confined to his home with Scarlet Fever, also that William McIntosh Sr., of New Castle has been taken to the Cleveland clinic for treatment.

The oldest of known men were already of the human type, both in appearance and habits, and are further removed from apes than they are from modern man.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

The fact that the fire organized effort at fighting fires in this community was made nearly a hundred years ago is probably news to most people.

On September 29, 1836, a meeting was called at the then tavern of Andrew Lewis and the first fire company organized. Joseph T. Boyd was elected as president; William Cox, vice president; S. C. Euwer, secretary; Thomas Painter, treasurer; William Dickson, captain; W. B. Miller, lieutenant; R. W. Cunningham, first engineer; James V. Ison, Jr., second engineer; P. T. Foyd, third engineer; J. W. Cunningham, fourth engineer; axemen—Thomas Hunter, John M. Semple and E. R. Semple. This company continued for many years. The first fire engine brought to New Castle was a small hand-engine. It was regarded with much pride.

The Eagle Fire Company was organized about 1851. The first fire engine purchased by the city for this company arrived here August 30, 1851. November 2, 1858, the Relief Fire Company was organized. It existed but a short time. A hook and ladder company was organized in 1873 known as the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company. It existed but a short time. The Neshannock Fire Company was organized December 12, 1873. In 1874, the company changed its name to the Vigilant Fire Company.

The Neshannock and Eagle fire companies disbanded in 1878 through a dispute with city council. These were the pioneers of the present modern fire fighting system of the city and the names of some of them can still be found in existing volunteer fire companies of the city.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

ANOTHER THANKSGIVING DAY

Editor of The News: Now that congress had adjourned and every business man is rejoicing would it not be a fine thing if the president would appoint a day of special thanksgiving.

We surely have much to be thankful for in that we will have three months without congress and that little bunch of insurgents in the senate will have to employ themselves in some other way.

For a long time they have been very busy trying to make the president's life a burden to him, masquerading as Republicans they really have no political affiliation and their platform of principals can be summed up in a few words. It is this, "We are opposed to everything that the president is in favor of and we are heartily in favor of everything that he is opposed to. Our motto is 'find out which side Hoover is on and then take the other side.'"

In the humble opinion of the writer there are more than a million voters in this country that are unable to find words in their vocabulary that are sufficiently strong to express all of the contempt that they have for the insurgent leaders. I have no doubt there are a few good men in the senate but it must be a mighty lonesome place for a good man to be located. An extra session of congress would just about put the whole treasury department into the hands of a receiver.

However, it is always better to be an optimist than a pessimist and let us all hope that the time will yet come when the U. S. senate will be something more than a millionaire's club and men will be sent to the house of representatives that shall represent the highest type of citizenship and they will go to congress with an earnest wish and a long desire to help in the good work of enacting righteous laws that shall be for the benefit of the whole country.

Eynon Has Radio Everywhere He Goes

(From News Bureau)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 12.—As a radio enthusiast, Ben G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, seems to be the last word. Not content with having a radio in his home Mr. Eynon has them installed in both his official and private automobiles.

The installation is one that would delight a radio nut. The receiving set is under the hood of the car and the loud speaker connected under the instrument board of the inside of the car. Whenever he is on the road, which is considerable, he has his set tuned in and kills the monotony of the miles by radio music.

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is ideal for this purpose. Just a little after meals neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents souring, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion is easy and painless. It will do all this for you or money back. New Castle Drug Co. and druggists everywhere sell Bisurated Magnesia with this guarantee.

It Survives this "Chamber of Horrors"

No wonder it's Pennsylvania's fastest Gasoline Success!

IN ALL the world, today, there are no proving grounds for motor fuel quite like the Standard Laboratories at Bayway, New Jersey.

Here gasoline is literally "put on the rack." Tested and tortured! Made to give up its every secret. Not only "Standard"—but every gasoline that you can buy on the highway today.

For this laboratory has been given one job above all others... to see that "Standard" is always better gasoline.

Vast resources and long experience count in gasoline-making as in everything else. That is why "Standard" Gasoline, today, is the most widely used motor fuel in the entire East. Why in the two years since it was introduced into Pennsylvania it has swept from one end of the state to the other.

As to the facts about "Standard"—here they are:

A completely distilled, clean gasoline. A gasoline that contains no sulphides (you can tell them by the smell!) to damage your motor. No gum to foul pistons. No "heavy ends" to cause crankcase dilution. "Standard" Gasoline is made with extra volatility to insure quicker starting in any weather and pickup under any traffic conditions. In anti-knock qualities, it is well above the average of all the gasolines except those selling at a premium.

Fill up with "Standard" today—and judge the results for yourself.

IT BABY HAS COLIC

COLIC comes suddenly. Your first intimation that something is wrong may be a warning cry in the night. If you have a bottle of Castoria handy you needn't worry, for a little of this pure vegetable remedy will soon have baby his happy self again; let him go back to sleep.

Castoria is always the sensible thing to give an ailing child. When a child is restless, fretful, with coated tongue, bad breath and lack of appetite, it is a mother's standby. Most mothers give Castoria an important place in their homes. Ready for sour stomach, constipation, or upset. When buying Fletcher's Castoria always look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. This identifies the genuine product.

Cough Threatens Delicate Child

But Triple-Action Helps Triple-Quick

"My four year old Dorothy is not very strong. I was quite worried, therefore, when she came home with a bad cough. I put the child to bed and immediately gave her some Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup which the druggist had recommended. Her recovery was nothing short of wonderful. She felt better that same afternoon. In two days she lost her cold and cough completely." Mrs. Th. Thurlow, 160 Barr Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DR. McLAUGHRY TELLS OF TRIP THROUGH PANAMA

Interesting Address Given At Wednesday Afternoon Luncheon Of Business Women

Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, prominent citizen of New Wilmington and owner of Overlook sanatorium, told her associate members of the local Business and Professional Women's club of her recent trip through the Panama canal, Wednesday at luncheon.

Dr. McLaughry's audience consisted of 50 women, each of whom was intensely interested in the address of this prominent club member. The luncheon took place in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A. at 12:15 yesterday afternoon, and was a special meeting in observance of National Business Women's Week.

What surprised and impressed me most in my trip through the Panama canal, was its beauty. I had expected to see huge construction work and very few signs of natural beauty. Instead I found glorious tropical foliage on both sides of the great canal, jungleland, little villages, pretty lakes. The tropics had swallowed almost every sign of man's handiwork, except the great locks," said Dr. McLaughry.

The entire trip from San Francisco to New York extended over a period of 14 days. The coast voyage from San Francisco to the mouth of the Panama canal was a matter of seven days, according to Dr. McLaughry, which is a surprise to many people. However, it isn't surprising that it takes a week to make that part of the journey when you pause to think and remember that the mouth of the Panama is as far east from San Francisco, as is New Castle, Pa.

Eight hours was the time necessary to travel through the canal, and several short stops were made at several interesting sea ports.

Dr. McLaughry has several times crossed the Atlantic, and last year she made a trip to Alaska. She has had many interesting experiences and the members of her club were grateful for her talk on the latest journey.

"Never take a trip when you are sick," she said. "It will do you no good. It is bound to be somewhat of a strain, and you will not enjoy it. Stay at home until you are well. Then travel, and keep on traveling all you can."

Among the guests at Wednesday's luncheon were three members of the Junior Business and Professional Women's club, Misses Grace Sunkie, Alice Mae Huffman and Florence Scott, and a member of the Sharon B. P. club, Dr. Lois Merkel.

These guests were introduced to the club by Miss Nancy Bechtel, president.

Dr. Mildred Rogers, president of the Pennsylvania Business and Professional Women's club, was present and gave a brief report of the new clubs of the state and the great extent the membership in all of the 35 clubs is constantly growing.

Dr. Rogers spoke of National Business Women's Week and the way the local club is observing it as well as the other clubs of Pennsylvania and the nation.

LEGION LEADERS GIVEN TRIBUTE BY DISTRICT HOST

enthusiasm in every part of the evening's program.

Speakers on the program in the Cathedral auditorium following the banquet in the dining room, were the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, Mrs. W. J. Lloyd of Uniontown, Western Vice-President of the Legion Auxiliary, and Charles I. Engard of Philadelphia, commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion.

The audience, which filled a considerable part of the Cathedral Auditorium was most attentive to the remarks of the guest speakers, especially those of the nationally and state commanders.

Address of National Commander O'Neil is given in an adjoining column of this issue.

State Commander Speaks
State Commander Engard in his remarks did not mince words relative to the aims of the Legion for the former service men, particularly those who are disabled or seek public positions subject to civil service regulations and his sentiments were accorded an enthusiastic reception by the attending Legionnaires and ex-service men.

Among other things, the state commander said "Your officers are but the servants of you men of the Legion and the ladies of the auxiliary. Increased hospitalization for the veterans of Pennsylvania was one of the principal items on the program for the present year. Your representatives have made frequent visits to Washington, D. C. The result you have no doubt seen. We are to have a new naval hospital at Philadelphia, a probable increase of 800 beds at Coatesville and an increase of 200 beds at Aspinwall.

"Your representatives are also busy in Harrisburg at the session of the general assembly. Our program included the matter of a state bonus for former service men, the furnishing of funds for the higher education of the orphans of former service men, the appropriations of $4,000,000 additional for the Mothers Assistance Fund. We have made progress as you have probably noticed.

Bonus Measure
"You have heard much concerning the so called bonus act under which the former service man is enabled to borrow funds to tide him over his present need. There has been much said about this, but the fact remains that the former service man has been given the right to borrow money that is already his and pay 4 1/2 percent interest on top of that. There has been much said about the manner in which the money has or will be spent, but reports indicate that little of it has been spent foolishly and anyway its nobody's business how it is spent, as it is the veteran's own money that he is spending.

"It appears that there is a tendency at the present time, both in the state and the country as a whole, to forget what is coming to the former service man or what he is entitled to. This is evidenced by the present tendency to advocate the lowering the civil service age limit from forty to thirty-five years. It seems as though there is a desire to take advantage of the former service man just because he is getting a little older.

"The Legion in seeking legislation favorable to the former service man and his dependants is only trying to help them and is not seeking charity.

Can Leave Country

"There are influences today seeking to undermine our institutions especially along educational lines and bring up a condition that will leave us without adequate means of defense. It is largely the influence of those of other countries who have sworn allegiance to our flag and institutions. I would suggest for such persons, that if they do not like our country, that they return where they came from. There is a need of preparedness and the Legion and its members should see to it that we have an adequate navy and army, not that the former service man desires war, but would be prepared so as to prevent wars."

His final remarks were a plea for an increase in Legion Membership in Pennsylvania, the goal he having set being 75,000 this year. At the conclusion of this address, he called Michael J. Shortley, of the Pittsburgh Veterans Bureau to the front of the stage and presented him with a framed certificate, telling of the service he had rendered former service men, who are disabled.

Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, of Uniontown, Western Vice-President of the Legion Auxiliary, in a brief address, conveyed the greetings of the state department of the auxiliary to the Legion, stating that its purpose was that of service to the Legion and that it was its desire to serve in every way possible, in the things needed and desired by the former service men.

The Banquet

When the vast throng in attendance at the banquet had been placed at tables in the dining rooms and ballroom the national commander and other guests took their places at the guest table as the Beaver Falls Post Band played "Hail the Chief." When all had been placed at the guest table, the band struck up the Star Spangled Banner, during which the group stood at attention. This was followed by the invocation by Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Congregational church, former chaplain of the Bangor, Pa. post.

Following this, the national commander on orders of his attending physician, retired again to his hotel to return later to make his address.

The banquet was then served, special tables being put to care for a large group of guests who had made reservations.

Among those at the guest table were Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander; Clarence A. Patterson, toastmaster; Guy J. Wadlinger, local commander; Charles I. Engard, department commander; Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, Western Pennsylvania Vice President Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Ruby Austin, Western Director Auxiliary; Mrs. I. W. Miller, president, New Castle Auxiliary; George Proesel, state vice commander; James Deichen, department adjutant; Harry M. Long, general chairman; Judge R. L. Hildebrand; Charles Edwards, District commander; Charles Gebert, member national executive committee; James Fletcher, disabled veteran; Rev. Rees T. Williams; Mrs. Gladys Rosenthal, soloist; Ivor Davis, chairman Reception Committee; M. J. Kane, past district commander; Mrs. Joseph H. Thompson, National and Department Fidac Chairman; Mrs. C. V. Homer, Beaver, Butler, Lawrence and Mercer County Auxiliary Council president and others.

An interesting group at the guest table was four veterans of the Civil War, C. B. Hamilton, James A. Magee, James Elder and Commander Clark of Post No. 100.

In The Auditorium

The program in the auditorium was opened with several fine selections by the Beaver Falls Post Band and Drill Team. These were excellent and well received. While this part of the program was in progress, Joseph McCarthy, a member of the drill team collapsed and had to be carried from the stage.

The Rochester Post Bugle and Drum Corps then rendered several selections. The feature of this part of the program was a bugle selection by little Bobby Caputo, four year old son of one of the members.

General Chairman Harry M. Long then assumed charge and the entire audience at his suggestion faced the west and stood in silent prayer for a minute, while several buglers sounded the prayer. Rev. Rees T. Williams made a prayer. Chairman Long then thanked all responsible for the success of the occasion. He read telegrams from Pat Dempsey and Tom Brownlee, then introduced James A. Magee, eighty-eight year old Civil War veteran, in attendance.

He brought his remarks to a conclusion by introducing Clarence A. Patterson as toastmaster.

Attorney Patterson assumed charge and after remarks of a pleasing character, he presented Major Guy J. Wadlinger, local post commander, who in turn introduced guests not on the speaking program, also read a message from Thomas Edmunds local legionnaire, now in Walter Reed hospital.

Guests Introduced.

Among those introduced were Charles C. Gert, national committee man; G. J. Proesel, western Pennsylvania vice commander; W. S. Knoll, vice commander of Ohio; Charles S. Edwards, commander of 26th district; Frank Molter, deputy commander, Beaver county; Harry Myer, deputy commander, Butler county; Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, deputy commander, Lawrence county; M. J. Kane, past commander 26th district; L. H. Hennie, chairman, Beaver county committee; Clarence Kerr, Butler county committee chairman; Dr. J. Howard Swick, congressman; James A. Fletcher, disabled veteran; Judge R. L. Hildebrand; Mayor Farlinger, Spanish war veteran, Franklin; Mr. Kindler, Youngstown; A. J. Conners, district commander, first West Virginia district; Dr. W. L. Brown, New Castle; P. L. Kenny, Enon Valley; M. J. Shortley. This group were post commanders or active legionnaires in their communities.

Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, Western Pennsylvania Vice Presidents auxiliary; Mrs. Ruby Austin, Western Directors auxiliary; Mrs. J. H. Thompson, national and department Fidac chairman; Mrs. C. V. Homer, president, Beaver, Lawrence, Butler and Mercer County auxiliary, and the following auxiliary presidents: Miss Josephine Dorwart, Greenville; Mrs. Arthur Myers, Mercer; Miss Isabelle Wilson, Sharon; Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, New Castle; Mrs. Kennedy, Slippery Rock; Mrs. Thomas Greer, Butler; Mrs. L. Edwards, Rochester; Mrs. Elmer Kross, New Brighton, and Mrs. William Kennedy, Beaver Falls.

Mrs. Gladys Rosenthal, soloist for the evening, rendered two selections "Drums" and "Roses of Picardy", in a most pleasing manner and her selections were accorded a most enthusiastic reception. Mrs. Paul Welsh accompanied her on the piano and Thomas Webber, Jr., on the pipeorgan.

National Commander Ralph T.

Senate-House Committees To Resume Probes

Long-Drawn Out Hearings Held Wednesday With Many Complaints Filed

FARR INCIDENT SESSION FEATURE

Albert M. Greenfield Scheduled As Principal Witness At Probe Today

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 12—Both Senate and House Committees investigating the Public Utilities and the Public Service Commission today prepared to resume sessions, after long-drawn out hearings yesterday.

Before the House Committee representatives of third class cities were to appear, to air any grievances against the utilities or the commission while the Senate probe body prepared to quiz Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia banker and real estate operator, on the sale of the Quaker City Cab Company to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit.

Complaints Filed Today's session of the House Committee, it was indicated, might be a repetition of yesterday's late session, when representatives of half a hundred boroughs of the state appeared and for nearly four hours paraded their complaints against the utilities and the commission.

Thomas S. Chrostwaite of Hanover, president of the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs, headed the complaints. He voiced not only the general complaints of the association, but gave a detailed statement concerning the Hanover-McSherrytown Water Company, whose water supply failed last summer. Chrostwaite said the company's properties had never been valued and that it had bonds outstanding worth twice the value of its property.

Chrostwaite also voiced the disapproval of the boroughs against the Public Service Commission practice which permits a utility to increase rates on 30 days notice to the commission.

He said also the association objects to the cost of carrying complaints to the commission.

Individuals Appear Individual borough representatives who appeared before the committee, generally to tell of increased rates of difficulty of obtaining what they considered adequate service included H. D. Herbert, Cumshoeken, George Dickey, the Brackemridge, J. Edgar Smith, Latrobe, T. E. Gibson, Scottsdale, D. K. Lockhard, Columbia, H. E. Fetterhoff, Lewiston and Sterling Cramer, East Stroudsburg.

The Allegheny Valley Improvement Association filed a statement advocating repeal of the Public Service Commission law or amendment of the act to provide confirmation of commissioners by the House, rather than by the Senate.

The session of the Senate committee today, it was indicated would be quieter than yesterday's when John R. Farr, Scranton registration commissioner, was forcibly removed from the witness stand for refusal to name a "Scranton banker" from whom he said he had obtained advance information on the decision of the Public Service Commission in the Scranton-Springbrook Water Company rate case.

Greenfield As Witness Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia real estate operator is scheduled as the main witness to appear before Senate committee. In its probing of P. R. H. affairs in Philadelphia the committee has brought out that Greenfield apparently made a profit of almost $1,000,000 by the sale of the Quaker City Cab Co. to the P. R. T.

The committee wants to learn some of the details of the deal and the contracts which covered it. Greenfield's appearance has been delayed because of his part in the work now under way to reorganize the Bankers Trust Company, closed by the department of banking.

Other details of the P. R. T. financing will come before the committee next Tuesday with the re-appearance of Coleman Joyce, a vice president of mitted management.

No Definite Schedule Other than Greenfield's appearance the committee has not fixed a definite schedule to follow for today's hearing. When other sources are not available the committee turns to various phases of the six power companies whose affairs have been under scrutiny for two weeks. So far as that angle is concerned it has not produced any definite results, except to show that the apparently large profits they made were the results of bookkeeping methods rather than rates out of proportion to other companies operating in the state.

So far the committee has not decided just what action it will take toward former congressman John Farr, now a Scranton registration commissioner, who yesterday refused to divulge the source of information he had used in campaign speeches last fall. Farr continues under subpoena with orders not to leave Harrisburg but no action toward holding him in contempt of the committee has been taken.

New Castle Meets Rival In Duquesne Quint On Saturday

Red And Black Passers To Meet Steelers In Semi-Final Round On Saturday

Coach Bridenbaugh Sends Undeclared Quintet Through Scrimmage Wednesday

Saturday night's clash between New Castle high and Duquesne high in the semi-final round of the W. P. I. A. L. tournament at Pittsburgh, will mark the fifth consecutive time the local "title seekers" buck Duquesne in that number of years.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent his quintet through a scrimmage at the George Washington floor on Wednesday afternoon.

The varsity team representing New Castle was composed of Marvin and Nick Uram at guards, Lasby at center and Shaffer and John Uram at forwards. The opponents were Luther Rowe, Francis Wainio, John Grommes, Bud Hanlon and Tony Cooper. The scrimmage was a long one. What Coach Bridenbaugh's reason was for sending the local team against these boys who are unable to play with New Castle due to ineligibility are not announced, but not hard to guess. In some plays the varsity looked good but in others the showing was not any too good. Another long workout is looked for today. Friday afternoon will mark the final workout of the week before meeting the Duquesne "jinx" on Saturday.

Duquesne's last defeat at the hands of New Castle came in 1927 when the local passers won the W. P. I. A. L. title. The final score was 17-13. The local five was forced to play like it never did that year to topple this Duquesne combination which appears to be a "jinx" to New Castle.

The first half gun sounded with the Lawrence Countians leading by 4 points. The score was 12-8. In the second half Duquesne like New Castle, presented a defense which was a treat to watch. The Steelers scored 5 points while the "Tin City" representatives tallied the same number to win. That game is still fresh in the memories of local fans who watched Reider, Franklin, McGrath, Ostrosky and Sillman come through in the schoolboy tourney.

The year before Duquesne halted New Castle's chances of winning the cup by eliminating the locals in the first round. New Castle has tried since to annex another W. P. I. A. L. cup but has failed every year since '27. Why? The answer is Duquesne. Last year New Castle entered the semi-final against Duquesne and it was the same old story. "Duquesne eliminates New Castle."

Once more New Castle faces Duquesne in the semi-final round to see which team will represent the lower bracket in the final of the tournament. That "jinx" which has followed New Castle annually when opposing Duquesne must be knocked down.

New Castle's two victories, which by the way are the cause of the meeting of the two schools again this year were over Coraopolis and Monessen. Duquesne's two triumphs were over Coraopolis and McDonald. Now it must face this Coach Bridenbaugh machine which is undefeated to date. Can it turn the trick again this season. Last year New Castle boys took the floor with all victories underneath their belts and no defeats. Duquesne put the black mark on the record books. Some think that the "tide" will change this year with New Castle. Fans from other cities who watched the local machine in action are boasting of Lady Luck being with New Castle. Maybe when the Senior high quintet opposes Duquesne, Lady Luck will leave us and New Castle will play the basketball it is capable of playing.

And if New Castle plays the ball game it knows how then the locals might crack the ice by trimming the Steelers. Here's hoping the boys play like they can.

Now that Coach Bridenbaugh knows who his team is destined to meet, his next task is to prepare his cagers for that crucial contest Saturday night. The drills the first part of the week were light. But from now until Friday afternoon the workouts will be fitting.

Defense Clicking

In the past two games against Ambridge and Monessen it has been evident that the New Castle defense is working well. But the offense is not on the par with the defense. Throughout the season the New Castle passers have demonstrated offensive ability that should carry them far. Several of the local passers have missed easy shots under the basket which if good would have caused New Castle to look better in the tourney.

In the Ambridge game many easy shots were missed. The locals would have defeated the valley team by a big margin if these so-called easy shots near the hoops were scored. The same goes for the Monessen game.

Duquesne is as silent as the woods in winter about this game. Due to the rivalry between the two teams which always put up a good game the biggest crowd of the tourney to date is predicted to attend this clash.

Pitt Basketball Team Ends Season By Beating West Virginia 24-22

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Mar. 12.—West Virginia's concluding game of the current basketball season, at an end today, saw the Mountaineers succumb to the deadly marksmanship of a University of Pittsburgh foul tosser to lose the fray 24-22 after a nip-and-tuck tussle throughout the floor contest. With the game going into its last few moments, Eddie Baker, Pitt star grizzer, snared a field goal from a difficult angle that evened the score 22-22. A moment later, Tim Lawry, a Panther substitute in the game, was fouled. In cool procession, he dropped in the two free shots that gave the Panthers their victory.

Lefty O'Doul And Fresco Thompson Have Added Punch To Robins

Manager Robinson Seeking To Uncover Pitching Find From Rookie List

By MAX KASE International News Service Special Correspondent

CLEARWATER, Fla., Mar. 12.—With replacement made at second base and in left field, the Brooklyn Robins will come up to scratch this season one of the strongest clubs ever to represent Flatbush.

The trade at the close of last season which made Robins of Fresco Thompson and Lefty O'Doul and sent Clise Dudley, Jim Elliott and H. L. Lee to the Phillies has more than satisfactorily plugged the two outstanding Robin weak spots, which broke their '30 pennant drive.

Fresco, fast and sure, a sure fielder and a potential 300 hitter-dovetails in perfectly alongside the brilliant Glenn Wright in the play around second base.

O'Doul is a slugger. The black-haired Irishman batted 383 last year after leading the league with 398 in 1929. Del Bissone, fifteen pounds heavier and completely recovered from the mauling of last season, will be at first. Thompson will get the call at second, Wally Gilbert at third and Wright at shortstop.

The outfield, a real nightmare and headache to other pitchers in the league, will have O'Doul at left, Johnny Frederick at center and Babe Herman at right.

Lombardi Looks Good

The most promising of the recruits is Ernest Lombardi, a catcher, purchased last season from the Oakland club of the Coast League. Lombardi hit .370 and had a fielding average of .975 last season.

One of the interesting experiments in camp is the effort of Robie to salvage some pitching skill from the arms of Joe Shauta, a left hander Cleveland castoff, and Jack Quinn, the Methusalem of the mound.

Watsqn Clark, who won 13 and lost 13 last season, and Freddy Heilmach, former Yankee, are the only two left handers in the pitching lists. Great doings are expected from Dazzy Vance, who although still unsigned, reported weeks in advance of his usual reporting time to work himself into shape.

Promising Rookies

Ray Moss, recovering from the neuritis, which retarded him last season, has had a boiling out siege at Hot Springs and figures to be one of the most effective of the moundsmen.

Paul Richards, a catcher, Max Rosenfeld, and Murry Howell, right hand hitting outfielders; Al Cohen, a speedy hard hitting left handed outfielder and Bob Reis, an infielder, are some of the other promising rookies.

Dempsey Never To Fight Again

Jack Dempsey Announces Complete Retirement From Roped Arena

HAS BEEN OUT OF GAME THREE YEARS

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Mar. 12.—Declaring the old urge to battle had gone, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, today announced that he would never appear in the ring again in the role of a fighter.

"This is definite, final and conclusive," Dempsey said, "after more than three years of indecision. 'Fore more than three years I have literally been on the fence. Friends have urged me to try again. Promoters assured me that I had one more good fight left. Their blandishments kept me wavering. 'In June I will be 36 years old, three or four years past the accepted fighting prime. I know that I could not go back into the ring at my physical best. And the old urge to fight is gone.

"Yes, I am through—through kidding the public, the promoters and myself. I feel that I could not justify the ambitions of my friends if I went back into the ring as a fighter."

RETZLAFF GOES UP

Charlie Retzlaff, the promising young Duluth, Minn., heavy, whose most recent victory was a knockout over Tom Heeney, the first time the Hard Rock was ever really kayoed, has been promoted. His next battles will be in Gotham. Charlie has been doing his stuff in the middle west.

Knockouts May Feature Bouts

There Should Be Plenty Of Punch In Bowl Ring Monday

BANKO AND WEST TO SETTLE SUPREMACY

Persons of a pugilistic temperament or those who like to see the thrill of a knockout should have their penchants fully satisfied Monday night when Emmett Rocco and Joe Sekyra headline a five bout glove whirling at the Castle Bowl.

Rocco is best when he slugs and those who have espied Sekyra in action attest to the fact that he's a sharpshootin' kid with either hand and capable of ending a fight with a "sock" from any angle.

Em' is training at Ellwood and will eliminate boxing Friday for fear of injuring one of his whaling hands. Sekyra will windup his heavy work Friday in New York and arrive here Sunday.

Indications point to a knockout in the K. O. Kitts-Sam Cohen, six round semi-final. Neither know anything else but punch. Cohen has kayoed six of eight foes and drew with the others. Kitts is one of Akron's heftiest wallpapers.

Punch Affairs.

Joe Midway and Henry Attell are doctored for a four round bout. Joe will Henry down twice and Henry slammed Joey to the floor once in their last battle. This bout may also result in a knockout.

Johnny Banko and Walter West, rival lightweights, are keyed to a high pitch and no one will doubt the probability of a kayo in their four round scrap. Banko turned in a K. O. over West in their first scrap and West is hungry to win.

Flashy Marshall Couette hopes to box rugged Al Farone around in circles then lay him like a linoleum but if he does it will be something few have done. Farone has been beat but he declares that Marshall Couette can't turn the trick.

Jack Dempsey has given up whatever plans he had for re-entering the ring, according to a statement issued yesterday at Los Angeles. However, he says he will continue to devote himself to furthering boxing, which Jack added has been good to him. In conclusion the former "Manassa Killer" declared: "The game makes of you just what you make of yourself." Here's his statement:

"I have definitely decided to engage in no more fights. For more than three years I have been literally on the fence. Friends and admirers have urged me to try again. Promoters have assured me that I had one good fight left. Their blandishments kept me wavering. 'I will be 36 in June, three or four years past the accepted fighting prime. I have kept in fair shape and have tried to work myself up to intensive training. The old urge is gone for battle. I feel that I could not justify the ambitions of my friends were I to go back. I also know that I could not be at my physical best.

"In this valedictory of mine please don't pass up the chance to give the game a big boost for me," he continued. "It's been good to me and I'm attached to it for keeps. I'll referee, promote and be right in it to the finish. Unlike some others in the business, you can also say that had I a son I would want him to be in the game, too. The game makes of you just what you make of yourself."

Joe Kirkwood, golf star, sliced a drive several years ago and Marshall Field & Co. got a $8,500 bill for it today. It seems that J. L. Frances was watching the professional swing his club at Field's store when a drive sliced into the net, which billowed out. The ball hit Francis in the right eye, causing him the loss of his sight. The appellate court at Chicago upheld judgment of $8,500 for Francis yesterday.

Ban Johnson, former president of the American League, has a "fighting chance" for his recovery in a Chicago hospital, according to his physicians. The chance depends upon the amputation of an infected leg. So far he is too weak for the operation.

Under a ruling issued by Harvey Boyle, smoking in clubs where boxing is conducted is absolutely taboo, and the commissioner plans to notify all police officials that smoking is to be prohibited. Boyle says it is prohibited for several reasons, all of which are good.

George A. Law Jr., Boston, medalist and favorite, was eliminated in the semi-final round of the Pine Needles golf tournament yesterday at Pinehurst by Dr. H. Y. Garrity, Asbury Park, N. J., who won two up. Garrity will meet Benjamin Krafft, Titusville, Pa., for the title today.

Miles Evans has resigned as coach of Hiram College and Charles A. Henry has been named as his successor.

Heidelberg College will participate in baseball, tennis, track, golf, football training this spring.

NEW WILMINGTON LOSES TO BESSEMER HI QUINT

Bessemer Enters Semi-Final Of Class B Tourney With 15-8 Victory

Mt. Jackson High Wins Easy Victory Over Princeton Quintet, 30-2

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 12.—In the best game of the class B high school basketball tournament which is now going on at the Westminster college gymnasium, the fast Bessemer high advanced to the semi-final round by winning a 15-8 verdict over a fighting New Wilmington high team on Wednesday night. In the opening game of the evening Mr. Jackson also entered the semi-final round by winning an easy 30-2 victory over Princeton high.

Mt. Jackson, led by the clever attack of Pitzer and Daugherty, had an easy night with the Princeton passers. Princeton failed to score a field goal while their opponents found the nets for 14. At the half the Mt. Jackson quintet led by a 15-1 margin. The second string recruits of Mt. Jackson got a chance to show their wares and looked good. The final score was 30-2 with Mt. Jackson occupying the top berth. Mt. Jackson meets Bessemer tonight due to its victory.

Fast Game. The second contest which brought together New Wilmington and Bessemer was the best game of the tournament thus far. The game was a close and hard fought one from the start until the finish. Although Bessemer won, it was forced to demonstrate all it had to eliminate Coach Ken Delahanty's hopes.

Near the end of the initial period New Wilmington annexed a field goal to grab a 2-0 lead as the sun sounded ending the first period. Bessemer scored five points in the second quarter to lead 5-3 at the half. During the third period the Cement City cagers again tallied five more points while the New Wilmington representative added three as the period came to a conclusion with Bessemer the leader, 10-8.

It looked like the final quarter would tell the winner. So far New Wilmington appeared to be playing the best brand of basketball and a surprise was anticipated in the final quarter. The college town team's chances of victory were shot when Coach Delahanty attempted to inject Gilliland into the game the second time. The rule states that a substitute may enter the game but once. He was ineligible to enter.

SPYING ON SPORTS BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

Will the weather man decide the major league flag chases this season?

Probably not, but his dices down in Florida this season has plenty of the big time magnates worried. While the Philadelphia Athletics, New York Yankees, Brooklyn Robins and a few other clubs have been greatly hampered in their spring training by chill breezes and damp skies rival clubs, notably those two National league pennant prospects the Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates have been backing in glorious sunshine.

Last year the month of March was a bit too goody down in the Everglades States and this year weather conditions have been discouraging to say the least.

The paramour factor in training camps is, of course, to get in shape, and hotel lobby practice sessions, consisting of reclining on divans and cussing a dripping landscape never gave a team the edge in a pennant scrap.

Present discouraging weather conditions in the Florida ball camps indicates that California may have won its baseball battle with Florida after all.

Both states for years have sought to attract the diamond athletes with Florida in boom times gaining a big edge, which that state has held. Now the signs begin to point toward the west coast.

The Robins, spending their final spring in Clearwater, Fla., are reported negotiating with San Diego and Pasadena for a training spot next year. And Joe McCarthy, the Yankee maestro, is said to be fed up with the current wet spring. Joe is sold on California having spent previous seasons there with the Cubs.

On top of these reports comes the announcement that the Cleveland Indians are planning to leave New Orleans and also try California weather, debating, like the Robins, between San Diego and Pasadena.

Aside from weather—which in all fairness to Florida must be admitted, is unusual for that state—California holds other attractions for big league baseball caravans.

There are two great cities with baseball hungry populations in Los Angeles and San Francisco, not to mention quite a few other good sized communities from which to draw spectators in the Golden State. As for Florida, attendance at exhibition games isn't what it was in boom times.

If the Yankees go west, the New Yorks may arrange a brother act akin to that of the White Sox and Giants in San Antonio, Tex. The Cub ownership is understood to have invited Colonel Jake Ruppert, crew to California with a series between the New Yorks and Chicagos as an added inducement.

VANCE AND HERMAN ARE DETERMINED

By LES CONKLIN International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—The hold-out list of big league ball players was reduced to thirteen today as the result of the action of outfielder Carl Reynolds in coming to terms with the Chicago White Sox late yesterday.

The "unlucky thirteen" are: Bill Terry, giants; Dazzy Vance and Babe Herman, Brooklyn; Chuck Klein, Phillies; Chick Hafey and Frank Frisch, Cardinals; Larry French, Pittsburgh; Rip Collins and Lu Blue, Browns; Eddie Morgan, Cleveland; Al Simmons, Athletics; and Jitney Ford and Chuck Dressen, Cincinnati.

All Not Holdouts

All of these unsigned players cannot strictly be called holdouts, however. Frisch usually does not sign until he reports at training camp. Simmons is working out at Hot Springs, also is generally late in coming to terms and has stated he anticipates no difficulty in arriving at an agreement with Connie Mack. Considerable hullabaloo is being raised about Vance and Herman, but you can bet all the oolong in Honk Kong that this pair will be in the fold before they pay many more dinner checks with their own currency. They always have signed and they always will. Herman's chief lament, in fact, is that he wants the club to pay a dentist's bill amounting to a couple of centuries.

Vance wants $25,000, or $2,500 more than the club has offered. The officials feel that this pair should not receive salaries which would dwarf those of Lefty O'Doul, Glenn Wright, Johnny Frederick and other stars of the team.

Morgan Is Through

Morgan, who married recently, is determined to quit the game but the Cleveland infield will not be crippled because Lou Ponsessa, once the league's leading hitter, is playing a stellar game at first base.

Ford and Dressen are not particularly important to the Reds, because Dan Howley is building a young team at Cincinnati. But the services of Klein, Hafey, French and Collins are highly valuable to their respective clubs. It is not known here just how serious these three cases are. Hafey wants $15,000 and Klein $18,000, which in each case is about $3,000 more than they have been offered.

Terry is the most important hold-out of the lot, as his loss would wreck the giants unless another A-1 first baseman were secured in a trade for him. But Memphis Bill indicated the other day that he was weakening badly when he reduced his demand from $30,000 to $25,000, which is $2,500 more than the club's final offer. The lure of the game is growing greater with each passing day and it would not be surprising to see the big first basemen crack under the strain at any moment.

McKeesport Woman Died From Wounds

Miss Naomi White Seriously Wounded By Her Sweet-heart Dies

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—Shot three times by her jealous lover who then turned the gun on himself, Naomi White, 29, died in the McKeesport hospital today.

Clyde Lindsay, 40, of Rochester, Pa., her sweetheart, died late Sunday night before police were able to remove him to the hospital.

The girl had walked to the front door with Lindsay after he had spent the evening with her in her home. He made plans for another visit but Miss White refused, police said.

Lindsay suddenly whipped out the revolver, wounded the girl fatally and then pumped the remaining bullets into his brain.

EXONERATE VOLUNTEERS

Approximately 175 volunteer firemen of the city will be exonerated of their 1931 school personal tax as a result of formal action taken by the board of education, meeting for its regular business session last night.

The board move exempts all on the submitted list with the exception of employees of the school district or the city.

champs. As a preliminary, a consolation game will be played between the losers in tonight's game to determine what team will earn the third-place trophy offered.

Following the final games tomorrow night, first, second, and third place trophies will be awarded. Attorney James A. Stranahan, Mercer, president of the athletic council at Westminster College, will present the first-place award. J. C. Syling, county superintendent of schools, will present the second-place cup. Athletic Director Lawrence "Pops" Harrison of Westminster will present a regulation basketball to the team ending in third position.

In all probability, a number of well-known athletes from Pitt, Tech, Ohio State, and other nearby universities, the guests of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity over the week end, will be at the final games tomorrow.

Aside from these casualties and the delay in reporting of Adam Co-morosky who had been laid low by illness the Bucs have been remarkably immune from the hospital list.

One of the rookies who has attracted En's eye is Tony Piet, a fast young Polish lad who is trying to wangle a job at second.

With Piet showing great promise Pittsburgh seems to have plenty of second base insurance. With Regan expected to make a vigorous bid for George Grantham's job as first stringer at the keystone sack and Piet trying to outdo both, En's may have three capable second sackers to work with this season instead of just one.

NEW YORK STOCKS
Reaction, Rally, Dullness
Mark Stocks Activities

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—Reaction, rally and dullness briefly summarize the three stages of activity of the big board this morning. An outburst of selling in New York Central carried that stock down an additional 3 points to 110 1/2, the low price of the year. Baltimore and Ohio lost about 2 points and other Rails were down a point or so. American Power and Light led the reaction in the Utilities and sold off about 3 points at 55. Westinghouse lost 3 1/2 at 91 1/2. The selling wave soon spent its force and the Utilities were as usual the first to work their way to higher price ground. Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, American and Foreign Power and American Waterworks pushed ahead a point or more. "Big Gas" moving up 1 1/2 to 105 1/2. Warner Brothers scored another improvement when the stock moved ahead to 13 1/2, up about 2 points from the low of the week. The balance of the Amusement group dipped moderately in the first hour and recovered their lost ground in the second. The Copper stocks were under pressure as reports of selling of the Red Metal at 10 cents a pound reached Wall Street. United States Steel and other speculative leaders revolved in a narrow price range, as also did the leading Oils and Specialties near the noon period. Under the stimulus of strong cables, Wheat prices rose fractionally, while Cotton lost about 50 cents a bale. Call money renewed at 1 1/2 per cent.

Rings Are Cause
Of Thelma's Arrest

Allege Forged Checks Were Given In Part Payment On Diamonds

Ernest Thelma, North Front street, this city is held in default of $3,000 bail in the county jail on charges of forgery and obtaining goods under false pretense and will be given a hearing Friday, March 13, by Alderman W. E. Marshall. Charges were preferred in a warrant served by State Policeman Henderson, evening after a day's investigation which carried him to Beaver Falls, Pittsburgh, Youngstown and ended here. Thelma has confessed, according to the state policeman.

It is alleged that Thelma who is 25 and single, signed the name of "C. A. Turner" to a check made payable to "R. R. Russell." The check was made out for $65. He visited a local jeweler gave him the check and a diamond ring on which he obtained a credit of $75 and obtained a diamond ring worth $50. He is said to have gone to Pittsburgh, pawned the $50 ring, on which he secured $185, cash. Thelma is then alleged to have gone to Youngstown and forged two checks on the Wilson Avenue Auto Wrecking company. The checks were for $50 and $10, each and signed by "R. R. Russell."

Thelma is also alleged to have gone to a jewelry store in Youngstown and impersonated himself as "R. R. Russell." After an "investigation" by the attaches of the store he got a ladies diamond ring worth $100 and turned in a watch on a $90, twenty three jewel watch. He agreed to pay for them by installments.

His next trip, it is alleged carried him inside another jewelry store in Youngstown where he obtained a wedding ring and also a diamond ring, both worth it is claimed a total of $70, after which he came to New Castle and was captured by Henderson and Constable Tommy O'Brien, who aided in the investigation.

The State police has recovered all the jewelry which the young man obtained.

City police also were on the "look-out" for Thelma and Tommy Lynch arrived on the scene as Henderson placed Thelma under arrest.

Another portent of the advent of Spring is the resurrection of the sulphur and molasses jar. Picture above shows Eleanor, one of the exhibits of the Bronx, N. Y., zoo, taking her Spring tonic. From the pleased expression on her corrugated face one may hazard a guess that the tonic contains more molasses than sulphur.

Lenten Cantata
At Trinity Is Decided Success

Soloists And Chorus Render Cantata In Wonderful Manner

Repetition of Maundy's Lenten Cantata "Olivet To Calvary" by the choir of Trinity Episcopal church last evening at that church, was one of the finer religious musical efforts of the city in some time. The cantata was presented before a large and appreciative audience, who thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful music and the theme which it presents.

The cantata was presented by the choir under the supervision of Prof. Paul Eugene Patterson, organist and choir director of the church and the beauty of the production was brought out in a felling an inspired manner by both the chorus and soloists, which demonstrated careful training and a true interest.

The soloists were Mrs. Ves Rice, Mrs. Earl Pennell and Miss Frances Gibson, sopranos; Mrs. George Westlake and Miss Ruth Stanley, alto; John Jones, tenor and George Westlake, basso. The work of these soloists was such as to leave a lasting and pleasing effect and really proved an inspiration to all those so fortunate as to be present. Rev. P. C. Pearson, the rector, conducted a short service preceding the cantata.

Civic leaders, business men, social workers, clergymen, reformers and politicians were uniting in an insistent demand for a "clean up" of conditions. Meetings of various types were being called and numerous organizations were going on record as in favor of an immediate "showdown."

Attorney Causes Stir In Capital

Philadelphia Attorney Seeks To Restrain Senate From Certifying Bills

LEGISLATORS ARE DISCUSSING MOVE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—With only the lower house of the General Assembly scheduled to work today, interest of legislators played freely on the move by Graham C. Woodward, Philadelphia attorney, to restrain officers of the senate from certifying bills to governor Pinchot in signature.

Woodward's petition for an injunction claimed that constitutional requirements have not been met by senate officials in handling final legislation. President Judge Hardest of the Dauphin county court set April 7 as the date for a hearing on the petition, to determine jurisdiction of the court.

Specifically, the Philadelphia attorney charged the officers of the senate were not signing passed bills in the presence of all the members as required by the constitution, and that senate procedure as to reading of bills and voting was not strictly in accord with constitutional requirements. Should the injunction issue, it would tie up all legislation thus far passed.

Whether such an impasse will come was doubtful, and as the house met today it prepared to pass several bills on third reading. More than a score of bills were reported out of committee and advanced along the calendar and before the lower chamber winds up its week's session the calendar was slated for considerable lightening.

Couple Aided By Wheeling Friends

Couple With Dead Infant And Without Funds Given Aid In Wheeling

(International News Service)
STEUERVILLE, O., Mar. 12.—Aroused by the plight of the couple, friends today were to provide a burial for the seven-months old child with which a bewildered father and mother rode 32 miles in a bus, hoping to find a mortuary at Wheeling, W. Va., and a place for funeral services in the home of a friend.

The couple Mr. and Mrs. Clem Gibbons, of New Alexandria, near here, told police they had spent their last few coins for the bus ticket to Wheeling. The mother held the dead infant clutched tightly to her breast that others might not become aware of the misfortune.

Had No Money
There was no money for a burial when the infant died, they told police. When Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons arrived in Wheeling, they took the infant to a mortuary where burial was refused because the couple had violated a state law by bringing the body across the Ohio border without the necessary permits.

Instructed to remove the body to Steubenville, the couple set out doggedly to walk the distance. Officials called them back and together with employees of the undertaking establishment collected funds to permit the bereaved couple to return home in more comfortable style.

Coroner Arch Bell, of Jefferson county, conducted the inquest last night and pronounced the child died of pneumonia. The parents had lived with their offspring in an abandoned farmhouse near here after a landlord evicted them from a home above his garage for non-payment of rent.

Poor Lighting To Be Remedied
Complaints Reach School Board About Aiken School

Prompt attention to remedial measures affecting the poor lighting conditions in the classrooms at the W. N. Aiken school building on Pearson street was promised last night by the board of education. Reported complaints, investigated by board members, were found to be justified.

President D. B. Woolcock will name a committee, of which he by request will be a member. Poorly lighted rooms in the other buildings of the city will also get attention from the committee, the plan being to have the investigators personally visit the different schools. It is likely a report on the inadequate facilities along with suggestions for improvement, will reach the directors April 1.

Local Boy Enjoys Life In U. S. Army

Mrs. Harry Glitch of North street has received a letter from her son Howard Piliant, who is in the field artillery at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. He is a former student at Ben Franklin junior high and has developed considerable since his entry into the service 26 months ago. He now weighs 180 pounds, is 18 years of age, and played with the first football team at the camp during the past season, where he made a fine record.

He is well pleased with army life, and enclosed a poem composed by one of his comrades, which depicts life in the U. S. Army.

To Dedicate Harding Memorial June 16

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—June 16 has been tentatively set as the date on which President Herbert Hoover will dedicate the Harding Memorial at Marion, O.
Former President Calvin Coolidge who succeeded to the presidency on the death of President Harding, also has been asked to participate in the ceremonies.
In an effort to arrange a date the White House communicated with the Harding Memorial Association to ascertain if June 16 would be convenient.

An official reply had not been received today but the association announced at Marion that the date would be satisfactory.
There is a possibility President Hoover may make other speeches on the trip.
The Indiana Republican Editorial Association has invited him to address it at an annual meeting in Indianapolis some time during the early summer.
Other invitations to President Hoover have been received from organizations in Kentucky, Ohio and Illinois.

Lantern Lecture Interests Audience

Evangelist Gibbs Will Close His Series Of Meetings Here This Week
A fine audience heard Evangelist Alfred P. Gibbs give a lantern lecture last night at the First Baptist church. The speaker used the parable of the Ten Virgins and showed how it emphasizes the certainty of Christ's return, the uncertainty of the time of Christ's return, the need of preparation for this great event, the blessedness of those who are prepared, and the hopeless condition of those who by rejecting the Gospel are unprepared. Mr. Gibbs also showed that the Ten Virgins were alike in that they all bore the same name, each had a lamp and a vessel for oil and they were all on the same errand, and each expected to see the bridegroom. "This same condition obtains within the professing church" declared the speaker. "All professors bear the same name, 'Christian.' All carry a lamp of testimony, all are on the same errand and all expect to meet Christ." The speaker then showed that the essential difference between the wise and foolish virgins lay in that the wise carried oil with them in their vessels while the foolish did not. "The oil" asserted the speaker, "is a type of the Holy Spirit which indwells the body of every true believer."

Special musical numbers were a selection by the chorus choir and a solo "I am redeemed" given by Mrs. G. M. Landis. The pastor announced that Mr. Gibbs would give another lantern lecture this evening on the subject, "The Gospel Supper."

Will Investigate Machinery Need At Trade School

School Directors A. W. Bauman, J. H. McIlvenny and Dr. W. D. Cleveland were named last night by President Daniel Woolcock of the board of education to investigate into the need for new machinery at the New Castle Trade school.
The committee was instructed to secure machine specialists to investigate the possibility of repairing the present equipment, which, if feasible, would temporarily spare the board of greater expense.

New Equipment Asked For Band

A preliminary request for new musical department equipment for the senior high school came before the board of education last night when it convened at its East street headquarters.
President D. B. Woolcock will name a committee to investigate. A need exists, it was said, for a new piano and some 12 new band uniforms.

Howard Leopold Is Called By Death

(International News Service)
POTTSTOWN, Pa., Mar. 12.—Howard Leopold, 81, father-in-law of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, is dead at his home here today. He died of pneumonia.
A century ago, biology was the leading science. Its place is being usurped by theoretical physics and at the present moment, by chemistry. Einstein has now placed himself on the throne formally occupied by Darwin.
